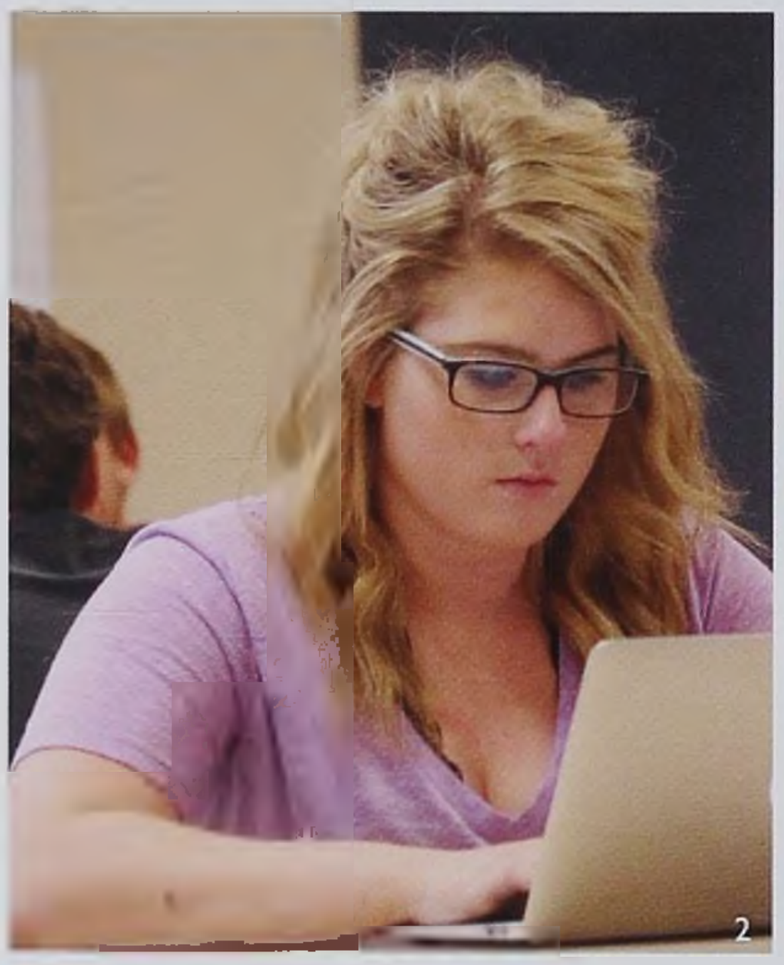
Change is inevitable. Some of us run from it and some of us embrace it, but all of us experience it. Change can be scary, like when you walk into a brand new building for the first time and have less than 5 minutes to find where you need to go. Change can be exciting, like showing off that new hairstyle or flaunting fresh kicks. Change can be hard, like saying goodbye to friendships you hoped would last a lifetime. Just like each of us, our surroundings go through these changes too. New buildings, updated facilities and an ever growing staff are just a few of those changes this year. Change is many different things to many different people, but it is inevitable. Even though we cannot always control change, we can always control how we respond to change. When things do not go our way, we can shut down or adapt. We can make a plan to REDESIGN ourselves and then we can execute a total REBUILD of the situation. Only then, can we achieve and RECLAIM everything that is ours. This book serves as a blueprint for navigating through all the changes our town, school and community has gone through over the past year.

REDESIGN RECLAIM REBUILD

Snakes on a Desk: 1.Ty Eaker (9) puts the finishing touches on his spirit animal. Mrs. LaPage's art class teamed up with the Autoshop for this unique project.

Type about it: 2. Ashlynn Slivka (12) works diligently to complete her class assignment. With every student having their own laptop, projects can be more involved. 3.

Banding Together: Savannah Viking (11) and Dakota Goetz (11) team up on their art project. Colored bands and metal join together for an incredible piece.



All Hands on Deck

Setup to Fall: 4.Noah Sczurko (11) places pumpkins perfectly around the Media Center. Mrs. Kozma and her team of students always make the seasons feel special.

Twists & Turns: 5. Sarah Nipp (12) uses pliers to twist her metal into a peacock, her spirit animal. These tools were an interesting change from normal paint brishes and canvas. Four Score: 6. The Red Devil football team celebrates their 4th victory on the season. The boys are never too tired to smile after a win.

76 Days of Summer

Summer is all about the heat, the memories and the excitement of seeing your friends. There are no limits on where you go, how late you stay up, or how many people you get to see. Summer is an adventure awaiting. Those late night sleep overs with your friends, days at the beach, night swimming and having fun, are all part of the steamy summer days and cool breezy nights. Summer is the best time to check things off your bucket list and time to make memories that will last a lifetime.

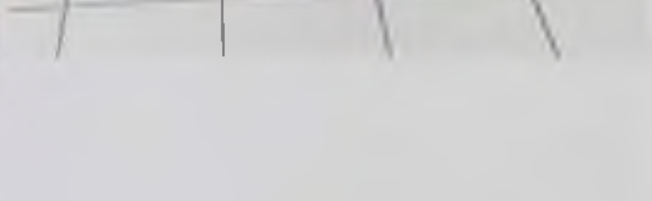
1. Jessica Hunt (10), took this scenery photo on a field trip with her old school to the Dominican Republic during spring break of 2016-2017. It was a great view! 2. Alyssa Noel(12) and Tammy Van Der Linde (11) 3. Angela Ogrodowski (10), says, "What #happens in Vegas, stays in Vegas...but this!" 4. Kaitlynn Tropsic (12) and Alyssa Sharkey (12) walked in the Crown Point parade for the travel softball team. They loved seeing the joy in the locals' eyes. 5. Mrs. Schoon and her son, Jared, visited Haiti over the summer. They had a great time with the locals. 6. Brendon Lamping (12) and Josh Markve (12), got burned to a crisp at the beach and had to spend their first week of summer vacation lathering their bodies in aloe. While each had immense regret, it was still fun. 7. A group of seniors are having fun in the sun on the first day of Summer at Wells Beach. They enjoyed time in the sun. 8. Seniors, Brooklynne Muscari and Marlena Dominguez, had a fantastic time dancing to their favorite artist, Chris Lane at his concerts. They had the best time! 9. Seniors, Alexis Salazar and Cedric Caschetta, hanging out by the pool for her 17th birthday. It was a hot summer day. 10. Sophomores, Lexie Markiewicz Gryczewski, Lindsey Lee and Madison Avery, are enjoying time at the Sugar Factory in Chicago. What an amazing group of friends! 11. Nicole Russnak(11) and Grant Monix (12), attended a Cubs game on August 3rd. They had a thrilling time with a couple of friends. 12. Myah Rugla(10) and Parker Rufo(10), setting off lanterns to commemorate a family friend that passed away 13. Mr. Mike McLindon and his daughter, Eastyn, catching a big one! They love spending time together.

We Got Spirit?

Yes, We Do!

By: Emily Salomon

Spirit week is the time to reach in the back of the closet to create the craziest outfit you can think of. Everyone loves to participate in spirit week because it's the one time of the year students and staff can dress up and show their creativity. There are many of laughs when we all show up in the silly outfits and take photos for the memories. This whole week is the perfect time to come together and have fun before heading off to the big homecoming football game and of course, the special night of the dance.



American Ties 1.) Thomas Michalski (11) joined in on 'America Day.' His American flag shirt and tie make the outfit complete. Pre-Gaming 2.) Some of the senior football players dress up in their uniforms for 'RDP day.' They played Highland High School and won the homecoming game. Sorority Sisters 3.) A group of girls in Health Careers pose together to represent frat day. Yoshi's Island 4.) Students dressing up for their best on the days of 'Gamer Day' and 'Tourist Day.' Site Seeing 5.) Kara Katic (11) and Lauren Williams (10) dress up for their best tourist day outfits. The hats and floral shirts complete their best outfit.

HOMECOMING

King & Queen

1. Every year, students get to vote for couples in every grade for homecoming court. This year, Seniors, Kiana Chandler and Nicholas Bank won King and Queen. The crowd was roaring when they announced the winners during the football game. 2. Anna Nichols (11) and Madison Berbig (11) 3. Cheyenne Riley (12) and Marlena Dominguez (12) 4. Ronald Bergstrom (12) and Kaitlynn Tropsic (12) 5. 6. Jayden Belcher (12) 7. Seniors Nicole Dewes, Cassidy Espravnik, and Morgan Iversen

DANCING WITH THE DEVILS

It is that time of the year again when we hunt for that perfect dress, explore the internet for makeup and hairstyles and lastly, find a group of friends to go with or think of the perfect way to ask that special someone. Yes, we are talking about homecoming! The day before the dance, we follow our football team to victory in the big homecoming game. The crowd gets loud and everyone is excited for a big win that sets the tone for our night to be united as Red Devils and dance under the stars.

Sword Play

By. Angel Marsh

Competitive fencing is an activity which has been featured in all of the modern Olympic Games. Stay after school long enough, and the halls transform into a dueling arena. No, not Game of Thrones, we are talking about the LHS fencing team. Space for practicing is hard to come by so the fencers do what they do best, improvise. With sabres drawn, and masks on, they work hard to get ready for competition. Coach McPheeters believes this sport can bring the best out in anyone and push anyone to do their best. "In our conference, we have former olympians and national team members who attend our tournaments and you can't get that in other sports." says McPheeters.

Like any other club or sport fencing takes quite a bit of time and effort. The more you're evolved in what you love the better you become and our fencing team puts in a lot of time after school and before school to be the best fencing team they can be.

"Fencing practices can be hours long and squating while lunging can really put a strain on your legs after awhile. I do it all because it is something I enjoy doing and look foward to every year." - MIchelle Stanker, Junoir.

Pictures (1-7) you can see the fencers perfecting their stances and warming up.

Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps

1. American Freedom! JROTC helps kick off a football game in the Inferno. They proudly held up our countries flag and sharing the american pride.
2. Springing into action! These students are really getting their head in the game. They played ultimate frisbee on PT day.
3. Getting active! JROTC encouraging students to stay active. Mental and Physical fitness are important aspects of the class.

Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps, a military regulated high school program with the purpose to educate high school students in leadership roles while making them aware of the benefits of citizenship. The mission of JROTC is to motivate young people to become better American citizens. They meet in the classroom for their usual lessons on being better citizens and helping the environment. Then, the Sargents give the students an open PT or physical training classes on Thursdays and Fridays. JROTC combines interesting classroom discussions and lessons, as well as opportunities to serve the school and the community, while participating in extracurricular activities, enjoying social activities, and having the chance to be in leadership positions. We strongly recommend this class for everyone. They are more than a class, their a family.

What made you pursue this passion as a Major teaching LHS students JROTC?

Sargent Micheal Davis

"I was a school teacher before I went into the Air Force. I taught school and coached varsity sports in Illinois, Virginia, and North Dakota before finally joining the Air Force in 1990. I loved teaching. At the end of my Air Force career, I heard about JROTC in high schools and thought that would be wonderful to get back in to teaching with a bit of a link to the Air Force."

Major Dean Eller

"After serving 27 years in the Air Force, I retired from military service. But, I still had some gas left in the tank, so to speak, so I found my way to the classroom."

Behind the Book

By: Jillian Richards

Angela is the pure definition of honesty and dedication. She is very hard working and gets her spreads completed on time. When it comes to her individuality, she absolutely loves sleeping and on the side, maybe a little bit of drawing and painting.
Angela Ogrodowski, Sophomore

Emily shows major effort and always gives it her all when it comes to working on this years' book. Outside of school she enjoys baking, watching Netflix, and spending time with friends and family. She truly is the light in the room with her comedian like jokes and funniness.
Emily Salomon, Sophomore

Amanda provides great energy in the classroom. Her hard work and perseverance really pays off. With her ingenuity and love for drawing, she really shows her creativeness in her spreads. She is a true child at heart when it comes to cartoons (Sponge Bob in particular).
Amanda Vargo, Sophomore

She is an excellent singer who enjoys showing her voice and speaking her mind when needed!
Emillie Grossman, Sophomore

Other than being a hard worker, Skylar is always the first smile to walk into the room. On top of that, her ingenuity shows in her talent for capturing photographs and showing her outgoing side.
Skylar Lewis, Sophomore

Being the only freshman in the room provides a lot of pressure. I worked on perfecting the yearbook spread while making sure that everyone was highlighted in their own special way! I work my hardest to truly succeed in yearbook this year while combining my talent of photography and writing.
Jillian Richards, Freshman

Emily being one of three Seniors in the class and sadly this being her last year, we all believe that she has truly given it her all! she showed us who she is through her writing and her beautiful love for playing the clarinet.
Emily Kozina, Senior

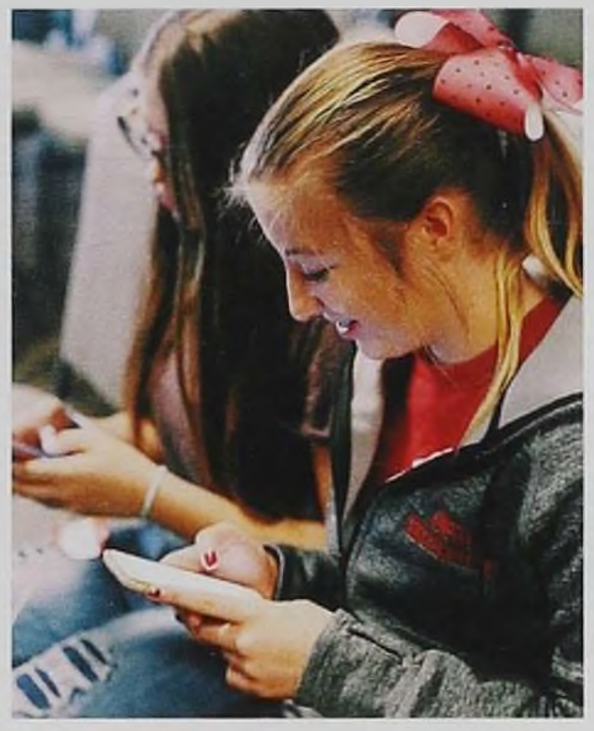
Though Allison is a quiet person, we really see her personality shine in her spreads and in our small 14 people class. Though she is leaving Lowell High School this year, She will be remembered by her quirky love for llamas.
Allison Suarez , Sophomore

Angel showed us the true meaning of friendship in Yearbook class this year. She gave us all something to look up to when it came to her photography. She works on her talent after school hours capturing life in each of her pictures.
Angel Marsh, Sophomore

Jessica being new to the yearbook lifestyle this year, gave us all a shed of light on her talents. Apart from being very energetic in class, she also goes out of her way to make you smile with her fun humor and obsession with makeup.
Jessica Hunt, Sophomore

The true definition of fun and hardworking is represented in Miss Kennedy Shultz. When we think of Kennedy, we think of a caring tennis loving girl that has the most unique laugh to hear. She gave it her all in yearbook class and we can see it!
Kennedy Shultz, Sophomore

Not only is Kayla the only junior in the class this year, she is also one of the greatest contributors to our Friday Show. She has a stand out charm about her that makes everyone enjoy being around her, but, we all know that she will push herself to her limit to butt heads with Mr, McLindon.
Kayla Collard, Junior



"Things end. But memories don't."

When a student thinks of a yearbook, they think of a hardcover filled with faces and names of their classmates. They don't truly know the time and dedication that it takes to build up a book of memories. A yearbook is an everlasting life long book that contains all of the captured pictures and stories told by our peers. From summer fun to yearly news, we work towards appealing to our peers when they open up the book. The yearbook is a way to recognize old and new faces while connecting them with different stories told in the book. Looking and reading; this makes a person think that the yearbook is just a picture book that only highlights different sports teams and academic teams, but the Lowell High School yearbook is so much more. Our team of 14 works to design and build everything you see and we do our best to try and focus on our schools accomplishments. Our team is assigned multiple spreads that allow each of us to effectively participate in the book's creation. We also take time away to have some fun taking pictures at sporting events and sometimes just in the hallway. As our team works, we are lead by our editor in chief, Alexis Salazar. Alexis has had her hands full this year as her role is to proofread, provide ideas, and help pair everything in the book together. She has been a big help this year and always has a smile on her face when she works. We all work effectively together and in the process we have developed a family mixed with all grades and ages. From our family to yours we say, enjoy everyday to its fullest and always remember your Lowell High School family.

Senior Shenanigans

This photo contains two very important people on our yearbook team. Both Seniors this year, our editor, Alexis Salazar and co-editor, Marlena Dominguez wrote all of their combined spreads together. They each play an effective roll helping in the class with any editing or problems with the book. Each of them put their hearts into their spreads incorporating any necessary changes and fun additions that reflect their personalities.

FASH

Jillian Richards

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
Dressing the way that makes me feel like me. I don't dress to impress, I dress in a way that I want to go through out my day looking.
What inspires your style?
I'm inspired by fall and the look of the seasons. I love big scarfs and blouses with different eye catching patterns.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Forever 21, Maurices, and Urban Outfitters.
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
My sweatpants. I don't wear them to school but they are the most comfortable things to wear, they're my go to's.

Katherine Smetana

What does the word 'Fashion' mean ot you?
To me Fashion is how you express yourself and it is a representation of who you are.
What inspires your style?
I like to wear whatever feels comfortable for me and my outfits really reflect my mood.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Pacsun, American Eagle, and Francesca's.
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
I would have to say that a basic black t-shirt would be my favorite piece of clothing. It's so versatile and you can do almost anything with one, you can dress it up or down and make a ton of outfits.

Anna Nichols

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
Fashion is a way to be who you want to be. It's how you change things up to be your own style and be different from others.
What inspires your style?
My style is heavily inspired by the 90s. I also watch a lot of fashion youtube channels that help inspire my outfits.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
My ultimate favorite store is any thrift store nearby. I also like TJ Maxx.
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
My favorite piece of clothing are my denim jackets. I also really like my old skool vans, they give a cool vintage look.

Cassidy Espravnik

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
To me, fashion is a way to channel your inner style and express yourself through clothing
Which inspires your style?
The weather
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Express, Urban Outfitters, and American Eagle
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
My favorite piece of clothing would be my all white Stan Smith Adidas shoes because they go with everything so whether I am dressing down or dressing up, I can wear them.

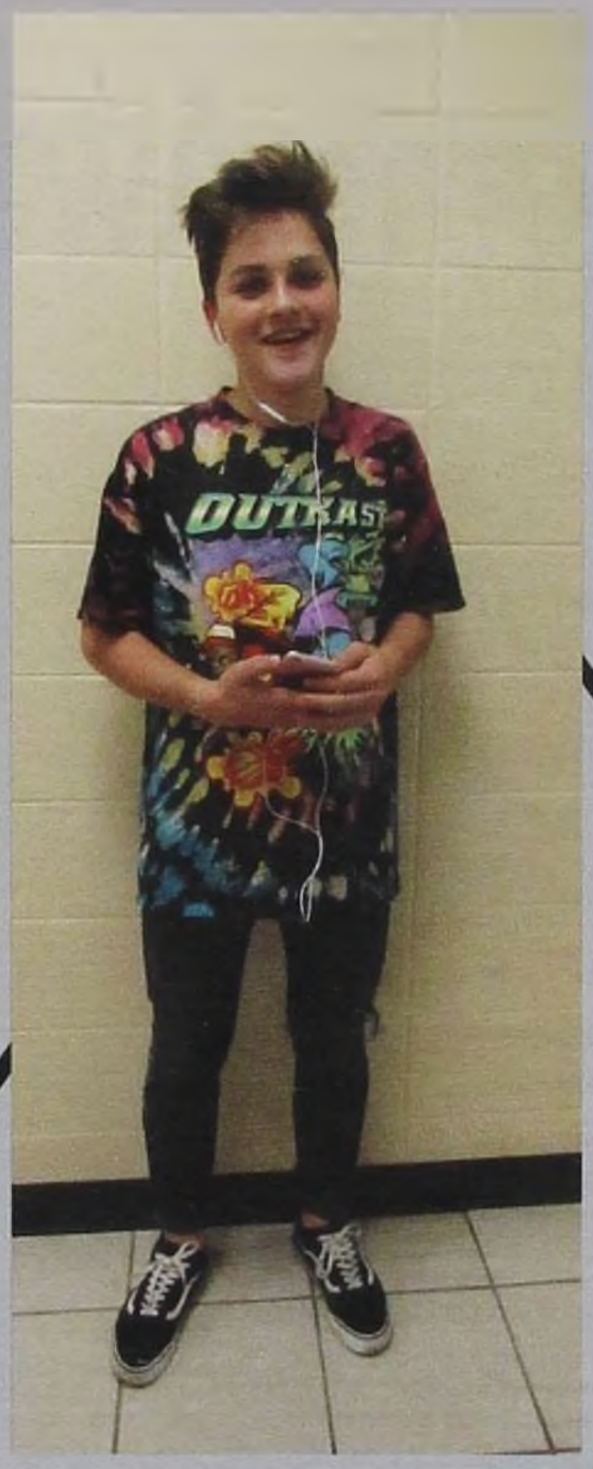
Brandon Venegas

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
To me, fashion means my dignity and style.
What inspires your style?
I wear what I like, so in other words I just like to be myself.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Nike, Hollister, and H&M
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
Definitely flannels because they're easy and comfortable to wear.

Matthew Iwinski

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
The word fashion means to me is about showing people who you are without words or actions. You can show people how you express yourself through the clothes you wear.
What inspires your style?
I am inspired by people around me: my friends mostly and the random people who walk by me everyday. With that said I add my own little twist the next time we wear something.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Old Navy, H&M and American Eagle.
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
My favorite piece of clothing would have to be a cardigan. While you can put a cardigan with anything, it also gives you that "finishing" look to your outfit.



Korbin Smith

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
Fashion is how you present yourself in public.
What inspires your style?
I would say when I go shopping and I see the models modeling the outfit I pick up on their style and it really carries how I dress. Whatever I like I really just wear it no matter what the other guys say.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Forever 21, H&M , Hollister
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
I like my jean jacket the most because they are popular but also rare. Almost everyone likes them but I feel like you never see guys wearing them and it really says a lot when you wear it.

Andru Greene

What does the word 'Fashion' mean to you?
The word Fashion to me means wearing articles of clothing that inspire you and make you happy.
What inspires your style?
My style comes from modern rockstars and hip-hop artists.
What are your top 3 stores to shop at?
Jerrics Skateshop, Zumiez, and Goodwill.
Favorite piece of clothing and why?
My favorite piece of clothing is my Godzilla vs Charles Barkley Nike tee from the mid 90's.

Home Away From Home

Derek is one of our foreign exchange students from China. Derek says his school year here was pretty good...except science. Derek's favorite things to do in Lowell are spend time with his friend Abel and sleep all weekend. His favorite subject at LHS is history and he really likes burgers.

1. This is Derek, as his shirt says "He was born for greatness!" He is interested in our school district and is ready to learn! 2. In Bio-Med, Derek was doing an experiment looking at osmosis using dialysis tubing to analyze blood sugar levels and human cells. Although he does not care for science, he is still has fun. 3. These are some of his closest friends! On the left is Adam Edward, and on the right is Zach Cory. 4. Mrs. Czyszczon is one of Derek's favorite teachers. Even though her class isn't his best one he still has fun! 5. Carla enjoys the classics! One day she will own this car! 6. Carla enjoys her day fun in the sun! She really likes to surf in the ocean! 7. Homecoming was a blast! Carla goes with her good friends Jessie Mescal and Chloe Otis. 8. Over the summer Carla went to Universal Studios. She is enjoying her time with Milhouse.

Carla Lechner is a foreign exchange student from Switzerland. She is a Junior this year at LHS. Carla said that everyone at school has been very open and interested in where she is from and she has also made great friends that she hopes the never lose contact with. Her friends at LHS have become her second family and she plans to keep them close after she goes home again. While in Lowell she has fallen in love with frostys from Wendy's and burgers. Carla says her favorite classes here are definitely Ceramics and US history.

Track or Treat

Track or treat is more than just a night of superheroes, ghouls and goblins running around candy collecting and game playing. For the athletes of LHS, it is a tradition that has been going on for 5 years. Many parties have a hand in Track or Treat including the L club, Mr. Kilmer, and Mrs. McCormick but ultimately, it is our student athletes that make the night unforgettable for the children. They spend weeks creating, and then running a variety of challenging games that reward the costumed candy collectors with a tasty treat! Community feedback has been positive as parents are excited their young ones have a safe place to hang out and show off their seasonal attire. Track or treat is a tradition we hope to keep alive in the years to come.

1.) Kaitlynn Tropsic (12) went to Track or Treat to support her softball team. She took a picture with her coach's daughter, Eastyn, who dressed up as Woodie. 2.) Gage Torres (12) is dressed up as Dwayne Johnson from 'Baywatch' for the kid's Track or Treat. He was there with his swim team to give back to the community. 3.) Spooky and sweet, the entrance to Track or Treat. This is where children and their parents can enjoy the haunted festivities. 4.) Dressing up isn't just for the kids, students of LHS joined in on the fun too. A night full of fun and games put many smiles on their faces.

STUDENT FEATURE

SENIOR

LUKE FLEMING

Senior Luke Fleming took on his last competitive season of high school. Overall, Luke had a very good season winning a Sectional championship. Although he is unsure of what college he would like to go to, he knows he would like to pursue a career in the medical field. He was a great friend and an overall fun player on the team. Luke says he will always remember the team and the amazing coaches and all the stuff they did together.

Anne of Green Gables

By: Emillie Grossman and Amanda Vargo

This year, Lowell Theater Department presented "Anne of the Green Gables." Cast and crew members came together to the story come to life from the props, backgrounds, makeup, costumes, lighting and sound, choreography, and of course the actors. Each member of theater plays an important role in the making of the production they are sure to remind us everyday. Theater welcomes anyone who is interested in fine arts and the crew heads will gladly take you in and teach you their methods.

Matthew and Marilla Cuthbert are unmarried siblings who live on their ancestral farm, Green Gables, in the quiet town of Avonlea in Prince Edward Island, Canada. Matthew is sixty, and since he is getting too old to handle the farm work on his own, the Cuthberts decide to adopt an orphan boy to help him. But when Matt arrives at the train station he discovers that the orphanage sent the eleven-year-old Anne Shirley by mistake. Throughout the story, the siblings learn to love Anne and she ends up staying in the family. The story also includes Anne growing up, meeting new people, and life challenges throughout the play. Lowell high school took this known story and made it come to life.

1. CLOTHES THAT COUNT: Jasmine Wood (12) prepares for the show by choosing the costumes needed to become the characters. They blended the modern look and the look of the 1900's together.

2. CREATING ANNE'S WORLD: Michelle Stoyanov (11) The paint crew working hard on bringing the world of Anne to life. They mixed colors and textures to get it just right.

Q & A

How do the crew and cast work together to make the play better?

"Every person has a part to play to make everything work smoothly. All areas are equally important. Mutual respect if the key."
Teri Rickaby, Choir teacher/ Technical Directer

Can you give us an overall insight on how the fall play went this year?

"I am so grateful to have the opportunity to guide such a remarkable cast! I appreciate all of the dedicated efforts and contributions of the crew. The passion of Anne is contagious!"
Patrice Martin, Directer

Drum with your heart

Twirl with your soul

By. Emily Kozina

This season the color guard performed a show called The Hunted, in which they picked up their best rifles and went head to head with our school band in a brutal fight to the death! Well, not literally a fight to death but more a visual performance. Throughout the four movements, the guard embodies their anger and fierceness for the audience at their first football game of the season. The band and guard came together as a whole to make this show what it is. The gorgeous music from the band intertwines magnificently with the stunning guard choreography to make for a cohesive and surprising show. Guard Director, Koty Salyers knows just how hard these two groups had to work to pull off such a difficult feat.

"The band music this year is very fun, and interesting. It really challenges the guard from a choreography standpoint. They have to really listen to the accents of the music so that they can place their flag work correctly with the musicality. Overall this season has had a great start.We wish the guard well in their next adventure into winter guard season.

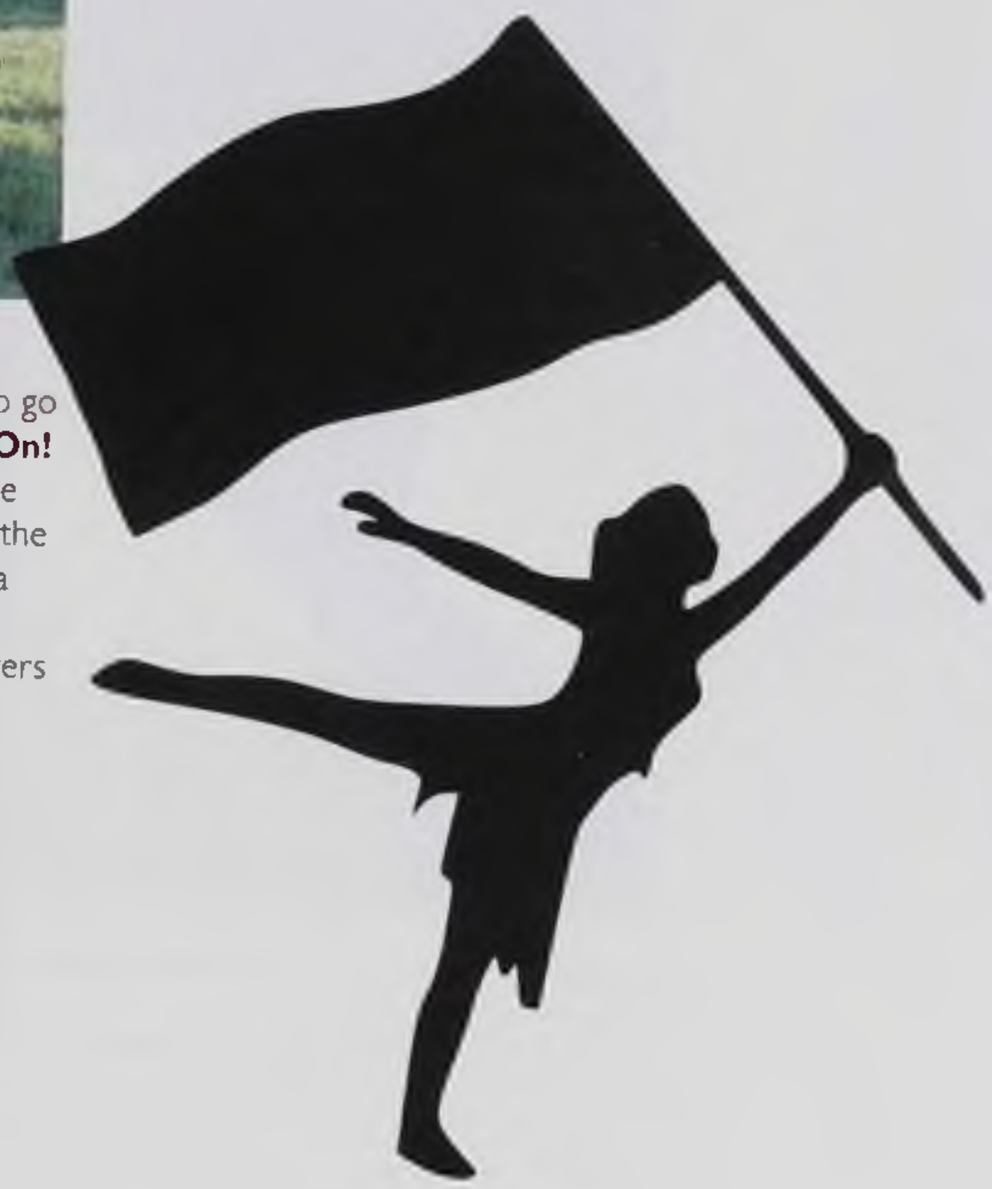
5. Stand tall These girls are ready to fight against the band at one of there invitationals this season.
6. Bringing the heat The guard girls were in unison as they practice to take the field at Lafayette Jefferson, their first competition of the season.
7. Strike a pose! Looking down the line as they practice one of their sets for the show.

1 Practice Strong, Perform Stronger Tammy VanerLinde (11) as she practices to go on the field at Lafayette Jefferson. 2. Spin On! Natalie Peters (9), Ava Lowe (9) and Jackie Mitchell (9) at the second football game of the season waiting to perform.3. Smile! Gianna Groebner (12), Briana Crouse (12), Koty Salyers (Guard Director) , and Mariah Salyers before the Labor Day parade. 4. Almost show time! Abigail Kogler (11), about to make a move for one of their movements.



Marching in Time

By: Skylar Lewis

This year, Lowell Marching Bands show, "The Hunted" features both the band and the guard who never seem to get along. Drum major, Maximilian Cherbak (12) leads the band into the battle between both the band and guard for what is rightfully theirs. "The Hunted" features a number of solos including seniors Faith Vendl and Meghann Patmore. The Marching Band had been invited to three different invitationals including: Lafayette Jefferson, Penn and Plymouth. Prelims for the Marching Band lead to a success as well because for the second time in school history, under the direction of Jon Flodder, The Lowell Marching Red Devils have qualified for state for the second consecutive year in a row.

1. Game Faces: During the final seconds before the band goes on the field they get prepared for their performance. As they walked on to the field they had to expect the unexpected, 2. All steam ahead: Emily Kozina (12) is warming up before a night home game. She always puts all of her effort in and doesn't give up when things get hard.

3. Drumming up Friendships: Outside of just playing instruments, band has brought freshman Gracie Barnhart and sophomore Lily French to a close friendship. The relationships that are formed in band alone last a lifetime. 4. Always Smilin': Emma Carrilo (10) enjoys herself at one of many Lowell Home Football Games. She Always has a smile on her face when doing what she loves best.

. Say Cheese!: Band-mates working the concession stand. They serve up quality notes on the field and quality snacks in the kitchen!

6. Leading the way: Band Director Jon Flodder led the marching band. They were in the parade this year. 7. Looking for Direction: Drum Major Maximilian Cherbak (12) leads the band in one of our many home game halftime performances. As band leader, he makes sure the band stays in sync and on time.

How much school spirit do you have? Red devil cheerleaders are so full of spirit it's contagious! Practicing and perfecting their stunts to impress the crowd, they perform with pride and precision. Anything like a faulty back handspring or one wrong movement when catching a flier could result in a cheerleader sitting on the sidelines injured. The season doesn't depend on how everyone does individually but how the team bonds and connects as a whole. They work hard each and every game, especially home games, to wind up the crowd and get them cheering along to spark up the spirit of the football players. Getting a whole student section to be able to scream and show spirit for our team almost every game is hard work and the cheerleaders were able to make it happen along with their amazing coach Jennifer DelReal this year!

Meet the Coach

The coach of the cheer squad is Jennifer DelReal. She keeps the girls on track and helps them maintain their focus. Her job is to help the girls grow and learn as the season goes on.

Being a flier you put a lot of trust into your team mates, a lot of things can go wrong with the slightest miscalculation. Being lifted, thrown and dropped takes knowing what you're doing and the ability to full trust who you are working with.

FRIDAY NIGHT LIGHTS

By: Alexis Salazar and Marlena Dominguez

The stands are packed for a Friday night game under the lights as the crowd awaits the entrance of the Varsity Red Devils. Our Red Devil Varsity football team started off their season with a huge win against Crown point and never looked back defeating every other team that stood in their way for an undefeated regular season record. Their passion and drive carried them into the post-season to become conference, sectional and regional champions on a long road to state. Our Varsity football team will strive and be the best and push the limits. They will continue to bring excitement and pride to the community bringing everyone closer together.

1. Devils stand on the sideline waiting for the start of the game. The unparalleled bond they have created helped lead to an undefeated season. 2. Jaeger Gill (12) 3. 4. 5. 6. Varsity Football team holds the leather helmet. They defeated the Crown Point Bulldogs to win it back. 7. Devils waiting patiently for their turn on the field. The team's determination, lead them to another successful win.

Can You Dig It?

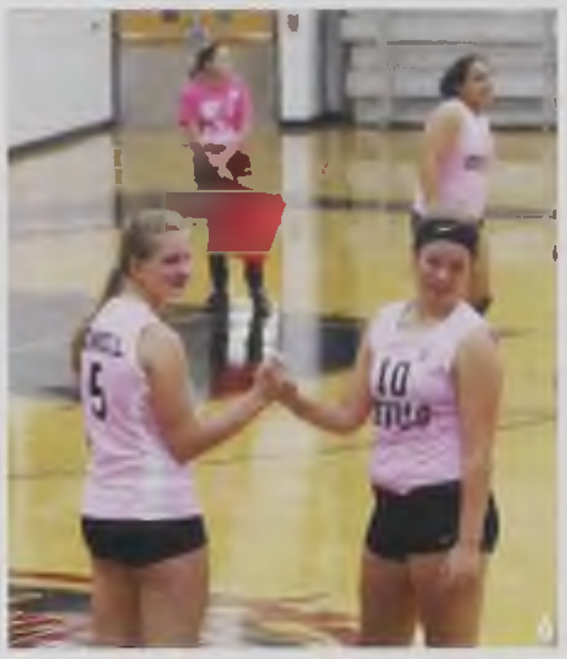
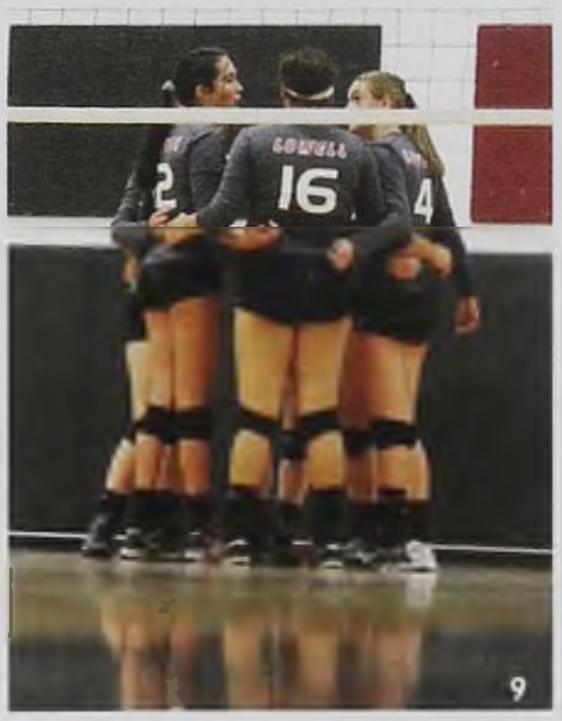
Lowell's volleyball team brought devotion and effort to the team this season. The varsity, junior varsity, and freshman teams all have grown together as a family. With a lot of patience, practice and confidence, they all have come together to learn how to better communicate, collaborate, and ultimately, become a successful volleyball program. By developing an unbreakable bond, the lady red devils have felt more comfortable with each other, which has lead to them playing with an unrivaled confidence and giving them what they call, a competitive edge.

"Volleyball has taught me how to have leadership, great communication skills, and also teamwork which made me feel like being part of a family," said Dakota Goetz (11).

The girls devoted a lot of time and effort in practice to go to conference where they held a 5-4 lead. They were very aggressive to win their conference games. When the team made it to sectionals, they played against Lowell's arch rival, the Crown Point Bulldogs. With the team's hard work, they ended up taking home 2nd place overall. Though it did not end they way they had hoped, the season for the girls was ultimately very successful and of course, coming together as a team.

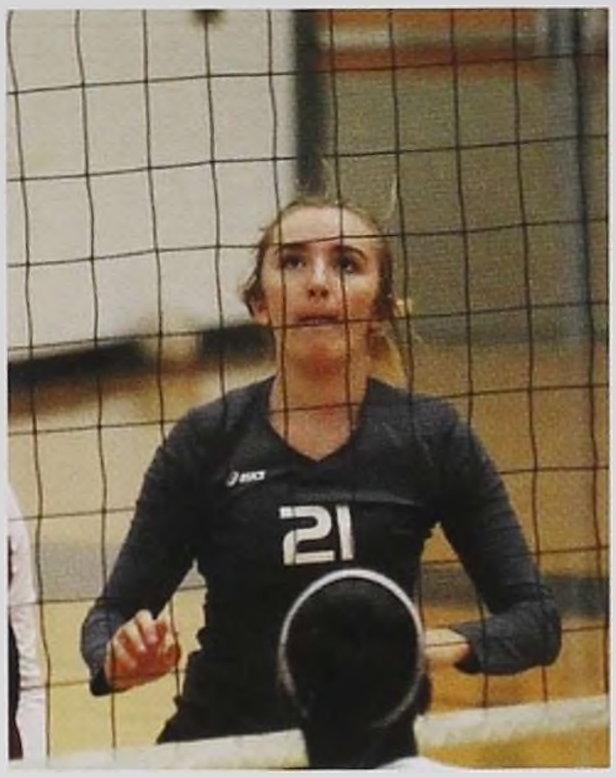




6. Ivy Richardson (10) and Dakota Goetz (11) both cheer each other on during the game to motivate each other. 7. The senior girls all take a photo with a sign at Senior Night. 8. The varsity team all put their hands in the air together again. 9. Some of the team all hold each other in their circle and discuss the match.

How Has Volleyball Impacted Your Life?

"Volleyball has taught me life lessons in ways I didn't think it would such as to work as a whole unit, I can't be selfish. The sport necessarily doesn't teach me but the motivation does. Everyday, the drive to work with my team makes me collaborate better. With all the memories we have created, even with the ups and downs, it was still fun to play the game at the end of the day," said Cheyenne Riley. (12)



Going the Extra Mile

By. Jessica Hunt, Alexis Salazar and Marlena Dominguez

To have athletes that have heart and soul for their sport is something every coach strives to experience. The runners of the red devil cross country team exceed those expectations. This sport may be perceived as an individual sport, but it takes a team to win a meet. Every person has to contribute and put all they can into a race with hopes of winning. Girls and boys cross country has had a incredible season. Both teams were given the opportunity to travel and compete in the State race.

Senior, Alec Fleming, finished off his high school career breaking a school record. Cross country is not just running, but also helps them grow as a person. Sophomore, Kaylee Cash said "It has helped me, just really, become the person I am today because before that I was really shy and anxious. It has helped me to come out of my shell." Our Red Devil cross country teams whether finishing first or not, our Red Devils have made us proud.

1. Defeat or be beat: Senior, Alec Fleming is one of our top runners. He ran at the Hebron invite.
2. Just Breathe: Brittany Kish (11) finishes race. She stood still to catch her breath.
3. RUN RDXC: Our Varsity boys after conference race. They posed with their plaque.
4. Strong Racer: Fernando Rosas (12) runs at an invite. He ran one of his best times
5. Catch Us If You Can: The girls cross country team huddle before the race. This was one of their final meets before post-season.

"The fall would not be the same without it, it is what gets me through. In summer, I like hanging out and bonding with the team."

6. Victory: Girls cross country posing with their trophies. They won the Highland invitational.
7. Every Step Counts: Alec Fleming (12) running to the finish line. He gave everything he d in the final stretch.
8. Time to Run: Annalise James (11) fighting for a spot. She ran at the New Prairie invite.
9. Just Keep Running! Junior, Alex Huseman running at the Highland Invite. He finished strong.
10. On Your Mark, Get Set, GO! Our Devils JV boys team starting off their race at the Hebron invite. Boys JV has had a good season this year and kept their spirits high.

Kicking to Win

By : Angela Ogrodowski

A sea of crimson and black fill the field. Pounding hearts and adrenaline rush as the object of our victory or loss is placed at our feet. The excitement as the ball is passed down the field, player to player, drenched in sweat and riddled with determination, both teams wanting a win just as bad as the other. To those in the stands, this is a spectacle of athleticism. To those on the field, it is the culmination of early morning practices, late afternoons drills and bus rides to other schools. Senior co-captains Trevor Cooper and James Sanders believe this year was one of their best seasons. James felt that being captain has helped him take on a leadership role and in the process has made him mature as a person. Trevor said that the thing he will take away from working with his team and for the last four years is how important it is to "always work hard at something you enjoy doing. Their overall record this year was over 500. It has been their highest over all recored in the last 4 years

1. Jeremy Henson kicks off for Lowell and away from Andrean. Which was a kick for the win.
2. Joshua Banhart travails the ball down the field from Kankakee Vally. LHS won the game 3-2
3. Brendon Lamping and Corey Ogrodowski fight hard to keep the ball away from Andrean. JV won 1-0.
4. Trevor Cooper takes the ball from Andrean. Varsity won 4-2
5. The team huddles up before the game. Getting pumped for there win.
6. The team celebrates after a victory with a thunderous applause from the stands!

1. The Girls Varsity Soccer team heads onto the field to begin their match against Hanover. They managed to tie 4-4. 2. #19 on the JV team, Breann Zabek collides with a Crown Point player as they fight for the ball. 3. Mia Rivera weaves the ball between her Crown Point opponents. 4. Alyssa Durall throws the ball back into the game. She played defense against Hannover. 5. Breann Zabek and Olivia Henke power into the match. They beat Hobart 1-0.

ALIVE and KICKIN'

By Allison Suarez

It's that time of year when the air gets colder, the leaves start sprinkling the ground in red and orange and most importantly, the soccer season is coming to an end.
Grass stains, bruises, and sore muscles are just the beginning but beyond all of the pain is a time of passion and joy as the Lady Red Devils are ready to dominate.
Girls Varsity overall did great with a 5-4-1 and although Girls Junior Varsity didn't win the majority of their games, they didn't let it get to them. Sophomore Traci Webb who plays for the Junior Varsity team agrees it was a rough season stating "I believe that this season was rough for our girls but we stuck as a team and pushed through". The Junior Varsity team is hopeful for a better season next year.

Taking each match one point at a time, the boys tennis team dominated the competition this season. With many enjoyable but hard practices, the boys worked hard to become the best tennis players they can be. This year featured a great group of boys that went out there to have a fun time and to progress their skills behind the racket. With their amazing swings and hard serves, the boys truly sliced through their opponents. This is especially true for Senior Luke Fleming who's effort carried him all the way to a regional appearance. For more information on how the Luke did during the regional competition, see the state competition pages in the spring add on!

Nick Bank (12) takes his match one serve at a time to win his last high school match.
Senior Noah Durr wins his senior night match
Luke Fleming (12) ends his senior night with a win and finishes the season 23-4

SWINGING TO SUCCESS

Whether it's breaking a milestone score, pulling off a difficult shot, or limiting your number of putts, there's always a way to find a small victory in a round of golf. These kind of goals are exactly what our lady golfers would think about while working on their form. It takes more than good hand eye coordination to be successful when hitting off the tee, golf requires patience and dedication which our ladies have.

New Places, New Faces

By: Allison Suarez

Nothing hurts more than saying goodbye to a great teacher, but embracing change is what this school year was all about. Not only has Lowell High School updated its facilities, but we have also updated the staff with eight new teachers for the 2017-2018 school year. Ranging from Spanish to Computer Science, these teachers have brought a new set of skills to LHS. Here is a glimpse at our new additions:

DR. GULL

Dr. Gull is a former college professor who sought to make a change after noticing a lot of her students didn't learn what she thought was "high school material". Becoming the change she wanted to see, she got a job at Lowell High School to help prepare students for college."

MRS. GONSIOROWSKI

Mrs. Gonsiorowski spent her life yearning for a computer science job, instead because of the lack of interest, she taught math and manufacturing until her dream came true when a position at Lowell High School opened up giving her the chance to pursue her ambition to teach computer sciences.

MRS. NUZZO

Mrs. Nuzzo has been teaching English for 12 years, ranging from 8th grade to 10th grade english, and even a life skills class. Being in a new school and teaching a new grade, she looks forward to getting comfortable with the curriculum as well as the students

MR. LEWIS

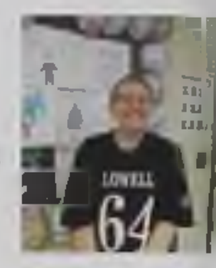
Mr. Lewis hopes that through his business law and ethnics, marketing and accounting classes, his students will be able to use what they learn to achieve their own goals that they have set for themselves.

MS. FRAMPTON

Growing up listening to spanish led Ms. Frampton to become a teacher herself. Going into her ninth year of teaching, Ms.Frampton's goal is to make spanish fun enough for students to become effective spanish speakers.

MS. HILT

As a former student here at Lowell High School, Ms. Hilt found her love for History and Psychology, leading her to want to come back and teach it herself. From neuroplasticity to government, she is all smiles when it comes to the things she loves.



MR.O'DONNELL

Mr. O'Donnell joined LHS as a late arrival in November but he hit the ground running. He says his experience transitioning into teaching was "very enjoyable, a lot to learn but getting there slowly." He has big things planned for the Criminal Justice classes including a 2 day field trip to the County Government complex, the jail, court, coroner office and crime lab.

MS. LAPAGE

Ms. LaPage is no stranger to art with 10 years of experience in freelance and illustrative work as well as being raised by an art teacher and an architect. She decided to work at Lowell High School to show students all the different things you can do in the art field in real life and not just the principles and elements of design.

1. Hola Amigo! Ms.Frampton translates the phrase "yo hago un viaje" to the class, which translates to "I make a trip." 2. Keep Calm and Code On! In her Web Design class, Mrs. Gonsiorowski goes through how to code using the program Codepen. She explained how to change the background color and more. 3. Law and Order In the little theater, Mr.Lewis listens to his class as they read through some cases that they had researched.

4. Get Your Wizard On! Mrs. Nuzzo's Literary Movements class listens attentively as they go over the first couple chapters of Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone. For this project, they were sorted into one of the four houses and created banners to represent it. 5. The Brain Gang Ms. Hilt and student Jared Brock pose to show just how fun psychology is. 6. Ready! Set! Draw! Mrs. LaPage shows off her art skills by using oil pastels to create a masterpiece. Her drawing classes went over how to use oil pastels effectively. 7. The Brain Game Ms. Hilt smiles excitedly as she points to her styrofoam brain diagram. 8. It's Just Chemistry Dr. Gull doesn't hold back when it comes to chemistry and physics as she breaks down Calcium Chloride.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE PART ABOUT TEACHING?

CHEMISTRY/ICP: DR. GULL
"I guess when I see a lightbulb go on with a student, you know, and they're asking questions and they finally have the "ah-ha" moment, I think that's my favorite part."

BUSINESS LAW AND ETHICS: MR. LEWIS
"The interaction with students and the feeling that they will later use the knowledge they gained from my class to better help themselves in the future."

DRAWING: MRS. LAPAGE
"I just love showing a student a tip or a trick and then it kinda opening their eyes and they go "ooohh" and then seeing them do that tip or trick later on in their own artwork on their own, it's important to me because I know that I made a difference in how they can express themselves creatively."

Q&A

WHY DID YOU DECIDE TO TEACH ____?

ENGLISH: MS. NUZZO
"I had some really great english teachers in middle school and high school I really liked and I was never much of a reader and so when those teachers got me you know, interested in reading and grammar, surprisingly I thought I want to do that for students and I could you know, get them into reading."

COMPUTER SCIENCE: MRS. GONSIOROWSKI
"Well when I went back to school to become a teacher, that's what I really what I wanted to teach and there wasn't, there wasn't a avenue for really so I was certified in math and then I kinda stayed and taught math and then I got a job teaching manufacturing and there just weren't many computer jobs around you know teaching computer because Indiana standards weren't really there yet and then I saw an opening here at Lowell and I thought "Wow this is what I wanted to teach in the first place so that's why I am really happy to be here teaching computer science."

SPANISH: MS. FRAMPTON
"Oh, I've always been around spanish so when I was a kid, it's not my first language but it's my mother's first language and my dad's so I was always around it at parties and family get togethers I was always hearing it spoken."

WHAT'S NEW AT LHS?

CAFETERIA

CONSTRUCTION

With the start of a new school year, Lowell High School decided to redesign aspects of the school. The school began by rebuilding the parking lot. They created a new and improved formation for students and parents. Along with a new parking lot, the school renovated the cafeteria providing students with improved dining. LHS enlarged by the addition of an auto and welding shop. This building expanded course options for future generations. The school's improvements did not only benefit education but also athletics. They rebuilt the tennis courts, providing the athletic teams for a better, equipped environment. All aspects were made to improve the education of Lowell high school, and their perseverance for redesigning, reclaiming, and rebuilding the future of Lowell High School students.

ANGELA FISHER

Senior Angela Fisher competed in her last high school swim season. Throughout her journey of high school, she broke the 200 Free Relay with her teammates Annabel Stein, Morgan Blank, and Elizabeth Vaught. Along with the 400 Freestyle Relay with Anabel Stein, Morgan Blank, and Brooke Otis. Unsure of whether or not to do swimming in college, she does know she is going to attend Indiana University. With the seasons past she learned many lessons, one of her biggest being, "If you have the drive and aspiration to do it then go for it." Being caption of the swim team Angie inspired many of her teammates because they all had an outstanding team bond. With her career coming to a close, Angie would like to be remembered as someone who had an impact on many and was always trust worthy.

OH WHAT FUN

After all the stress and finals have passed, everyone looks forward to winter break. This is the point that marks the school year is almost over, and for seniors the final months before going their separate ways.

Many students and teachers during the holiday break spend time doing festive activities such as holiday parties, ice skating, going to the city and most importantly spending time with family and friends. While some students travel to different locations, others stay local and hold traditions. Whatever holiday traditions you may have, winter break is the time to make those everlasting holiday memories.

1.Sophomores Avery Burnside, Anna Kampe, Angela Ogrodowski, Lauren Williams, Brooke Mace, Jolie Damm, and Chloe Thiele having an amazing holiday break with a photo shoot. They are definitely going to remember this!

2. Angela Ogrodowski (10) and friend Madisyn Vogt (10) enjoy their holiday break together. While Madisyn was in town they went to see the Trans - Siberian Orchestra in Rosemont Illinois
3. Chloe Thiele (10) enjoying the snow. Dressed for holiday parties yet bringing out the child in her while she played in the freshly fallen snow.
4. Averie Miner (9) and Faith Miner (9) walking around Chicago. The experience they had was memorable.

5.LHS seniors taking advantage of the cold weather and going ice skating with their closest friends. Enjoying the beautiful christmas lights in Chicago.
6. Emma Kharchaf (10) going to see Wicked in Chicago, Illinois. The joy on her face says enough.

7.Lauren Sadus(11) and her friend showing their holiday spirit with their matching pajamas. The had fun hanging their stockings and getting ready for Santa.
8.Olivia Mccauley (10) and her family showing their christmas spirit with joyful pajamas and presents for the little ones. The whole family gathered for a christmas to remember.

9. Mike and Matt Mclindon and their family enjoying christmas time at a family gathering. All cozy in their pajamas awaiting Santa's arrival.
10. Emilie Meyers(12) and Jacob Post(12) together during winter break. They enjoyed spending time with each other.
11. Sarah Litteral (12) taking her senior pictures in the cold snow. She showed off her well-earned letterman's jacket while enjoying the life of being senior.
12. Mike Mclindon reading The Night Before Christmas to his daughter. Christmas joy spread across her face as she waited for Santa to bring her presents.

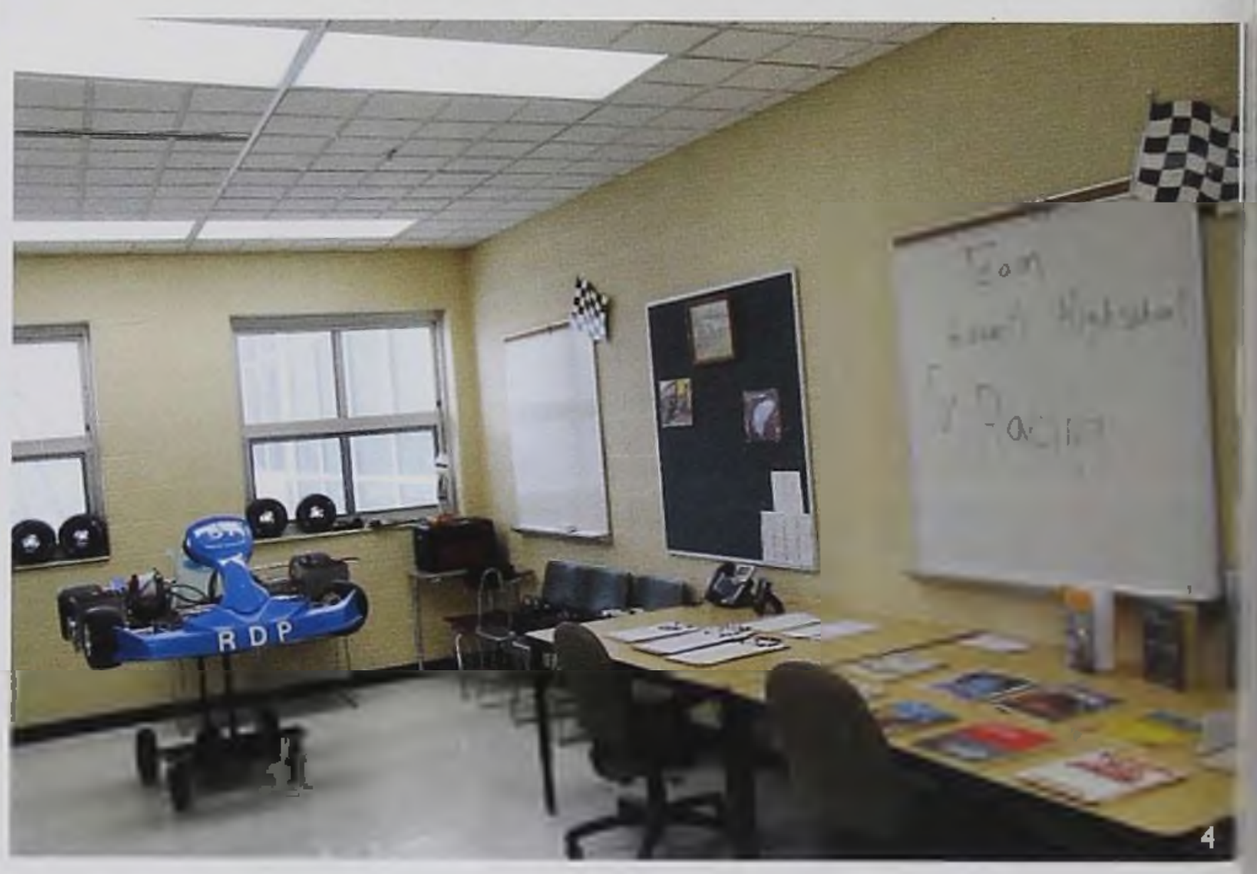
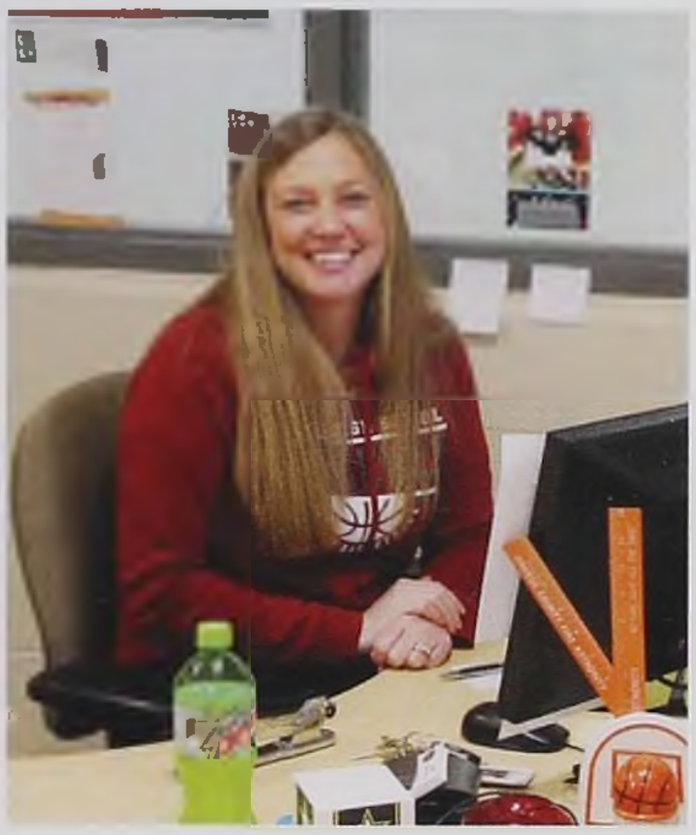
Red Devils Racing

By. Emillie Grossman and Amanda Vargo

Lowell made history yet again this year when the school launched the first ever go-kart racing team. This new initiative is still in very early stages and while the team has many goals, they know how important it is to take everything one step at a time. The unique element to this team is that it is made up of several different content knowledge areas. Students and coaches with backgrounds in automotive and engineering are heading up the design and racing process while those with interests and backgrounds in business marketing, graphic design and digital media are helping with the look of the cart and the sponsorships that are also involved. The team was given their own "garage"to assist in storing and working on the vehicle when they meet for practices.



LHS Support Network



Like an Open Book

Though one may argue a library's primary function is to provide literature to students for papers and projects, the media center at LHS is so much more than that. Librarian Mrs. Kozma and her helpers do a remarkable job transforming the entire space into monuments of wonder and magic. Whether students and faculty are stepping aboard the S.S. Media Center or entering the jolly world of the North Pole, their eyes and minds are constantly treated to colorful stimulation.

Red Devil Mentoring Program

1. Taking home the Gold: This group of mentors take first place in the race! They were the first to find all the words in the word search after answering the peer mentoring questions correctly.
2. Practice Groups: Jenna Ambrose and Jaden Ferguson talk to each other brainstorming ideas for their "freshman groups". With their brains thinking they were able to complete this task and are prepared for their practice groups.
3. Together as One: This group of mentors show a glimpse of their work collaboratively together to create their team name flags. Later on in their trip they present their group names to the rest of the groups.

We all know that at times, high school can be a terrifying experience. This is especially true when it is the first time you step foot inside the building. Making new friends, studying for tests, completing homework and projects, finding classes, all of these and more are issues everyone has faced at some point in their high school careers. Luckily for the freshman of LHS, the mentor program helps put these fears to rest. The members that make up the mentor program go through a vetting process and only the elite of the school are chosen to pass their knowledge on to the incoming freshman class. While the mentors are not a new concept, they do have a new program sponsor in teacher and coach, Mike McLindon. After talking with Mr. McLindon he said "I helped start a similar mentor program at my last school and so to now have the opportunity to evolve the program here at Lowell is something that really excites me." Not only will we continue to help the freshman grow, but we hope to get more involved with the community as well. Mentors spend the week building lesson plans that cover a variety of topics including test taking tips and bullying prevention. On Fridays, they then deliver these lessons to the freshman and run some activities to make sure the messages are heard.

4. Strike and Pose: This group of mentors throw up their bandanas and strike a silly pose for the picture. They had a great time on their trip!
5. Race to the Finish: Mrs. Duttweiler questions Adam Keeton about peer mentoring topics in a team challenge. While Mr. McLindon questions Joleen Sucich, he tries to get the correct order in order to solve the puzzle and find the words in the word search.

6. Completed! This group of mentors are happy they completed the puzzle! They had fun on their journey!
7. Roll Out: Alexander Clifford, Alexander Juszczak, and Blake Devalk roll out all the food for the mentor trip. They were excited for the trip to get started!
8. Guns Out: This group of mentors show their muscles posing in a picture! They had fun while showing how tough they are!

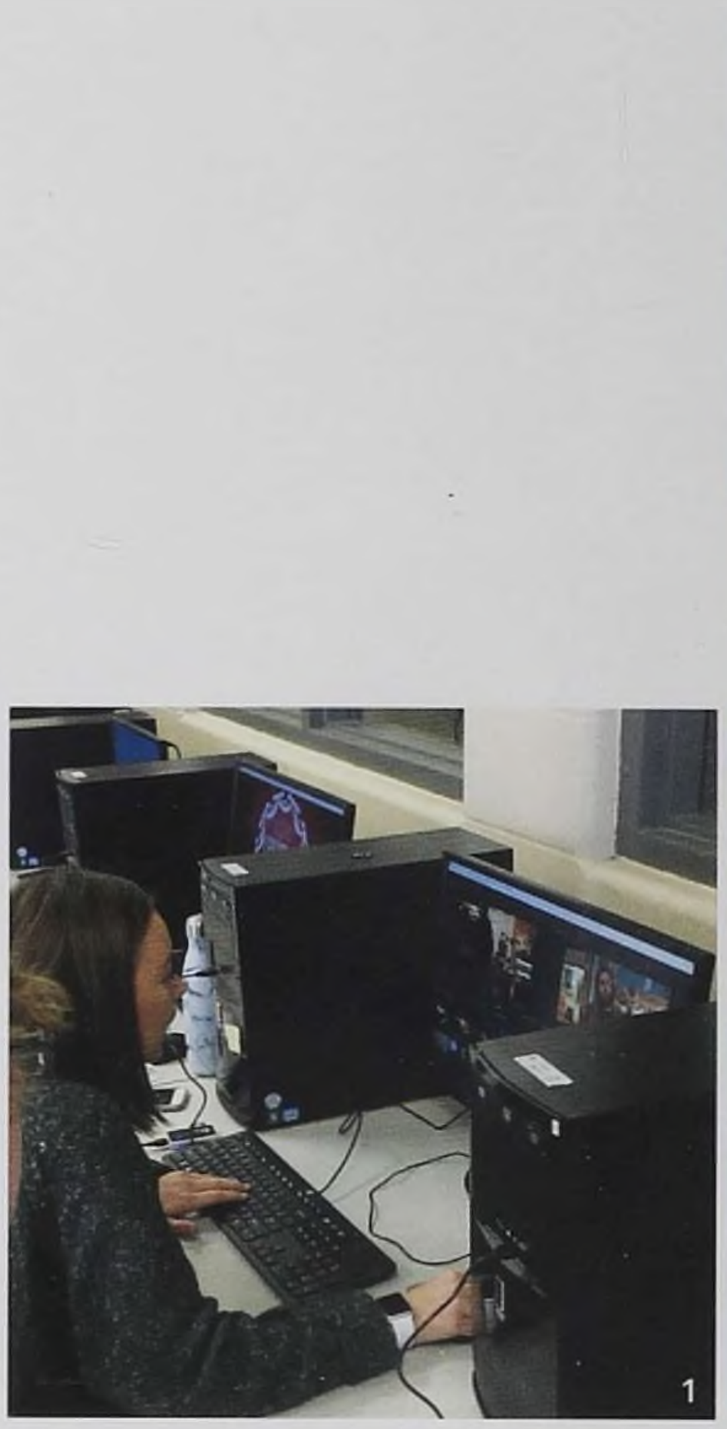
RDN TV Basics

By. Kayla Collard

Radio and TV 1 not only prepares you for Radio and TV 2, it also prepares you for college as this course is eligible for dual credit through Ivy Tech. Course instructor Matt McLindon believes this unique opportunity is a motivating factor for his students. "When you take this class, you can also earn a college credit that can be transferred to your preferred college when you leave LHS. Students working towards that dual credit seem to have a stronger drive to turn in well thought out projects."

In Radio and TV 1, you learn how to operate the cameras and edit using industry standard equipment such as adobe premiere cc. After learning the basics of filming, editing and story telling, the Radio and TV 1 students tasked with taking over the Friday Show to allow the Radio and TV 2 kids to work on projects for state competition.



1. Delany Sutton is working on editing an iMovie in preparation for the friday show!
2. Sarah Richardson, Cameron Bergstrom, and Haley Alexander work on editing for the upcoming friday show getting ready to air that week.
3. John Alessia films one of the main segments for the soon to come friday show. This segment could make or break the show!
4. Lucas Larkin and Jonathan Katona film Mike Lomalie and Aidan Hernandez, for the upcoming Friday Show. They film their skit, and perfect it to make a great show!

5. We call the shots! Taylor Schneider and Jack Megquier are getting ready for the friday show. Getting the right shots for a perfect video. 6. Tyler Valentine and Lexie Markiewicz are editing a commercial they are making for the yearbook class. 7. Jack Megquier paints his way through the friday show. He hosted his first friday show and as you can probably already guess, it was great. 8. Lucas Larkin and Collin Hartlerode are setting up the tripod to learn the fundamentals of recording. Preparing to record for the friday show.

"I feel like radio and tv is a very good class that is very informational especially if you want to go into the tv business."
Tyler Valentine, 10

"Radio and Tv 1 gives students a hands on experience in something very exciting. You learn skills and responsibilities that you can't get with any other class."
Hannah Ramon, 10

"In the year I've taken this class I've seen myself grow and learn so much and I don't regret taking radio tv at all it's an amazing class with a great teacher."
Lexie Markiewicz, 10

"Radio & TV 1 is one of the greatest classes I've ever taken. It's a very fun and interesting class and you pick up a lot of different skills even if you aren't going into the show business."
Collin Hartlerode, 10

Radio & TV 2

Lights! Camera! Action! All the way from holiday specials to sports and school announcements, the Radio and TV 2 class works hard to make a fun and entertaining Friday Show. The Friday Show airs on Fridays and consists of various segments and events taking place at our school. Working on a real 25 minute info-tainment television show allows the staff to show off their creativity in mini skits or news packages. The best videos are submitted to the Indiana Asscoication of School Broadcasters (IASB) to have a chance to win a state competition between schools from all over Indiana.

Holiday Specials

As the Radio and TV 2 class worked on state videos, they also created holiday specials. In the Halloween movie, the RDN staff had to avoid a deranged maniac while our Christmas special welcomed Santa Clause himself as guest host. These holiday specials are a collaborative effort as the entire RDTV 2 class comes together to work on the scripting elements.

Ethan Stevenson (11) is working on his own video for state, while helping Lauren and Dan out. He has many creative ideas for future videos. 3. Jessica Mescal (12) is working on a short film. She used one of our foreign exchange students. Carla Lechner to create an amazing video. She went on vacation to Hawaii and got different shots. She submitted it to state and hopes her video will place. 4. Gage Torres (11) created a radio talk show about net neutrality with Jayden Belcher (12). They interviewed Mr.McLindon where he gave his

One Guard, One Dream

After a successful marching band season, the Guard went onto the next adventure with Winter Guard. These lovely groups are split up into two distinct teams, Junior Varsity & Varsity. In their first weekend of Varsity Guard, the team got first place in the first competition of the season. The show they created is about different tribes battling over land, but by the end they come together as one. All season the Varsity guard has been excelling, they showed what they are made of by getting 71.25 or in other words a gold rating. As for the Junior Varsity, they have been working hard all year on a show called "The Clown", which is about a girl covering up her face with makeup to feel beautiful and fit in. They ended the season with 9 points over their usual score, this is also a gold rating. These two guard teams work very hard through the year, all to make their routines collide with the different types of music choices picked by their two directors. We wish them well as they continue to succeed in all their Guard endeavors.

1. Hands In The Varsity guard put there hands in right before they perform one of their last couple shows of the season. 2. We Are Number One The Varsity guard finished first place, starting off the competition season right. 3. Blow Them Away Junior Varsity puts on a beautiful show, demonstrating their amazing talent in action. 4. Sweeping the Competition: The Winter Guard girls battle till the end to come out in first. 5. Stand Down: Gianna Groebner (12) leads the Varsity into battle in one of there many moves of the show. 6. Old Fashioned Sporting the oldie look as the Winter Guard girls make memories to remember for a lifetime.

The Photographers: The photography club gathered for a group photo taken Mr. odgrass. The kids took the lighting and the shadows to their advantage to take the perfect group oto.

Drastic Color: Shayne Brown (9) was given a challenge to take a photo with drastic color. She iled it with this picture of her cat.

Let it glow! Connor Skafish (12) shows his true Christmas. Christmas lights are the best part out Chirstmas which is why Connor captured the lights perfectly.

A Deeper Meaning: This photo was taken by Kayla Walkowiak (10) as a challenge given to em by Mr. Snodgrass. Kayla decided to place rose petals onto a book and angle the lighting for a rfect picture.

Keep it cool: Taylor Collins (9) captures the change between seasons. The beautiful sunset elting the ice allowed the perfect opportunity to capture the changing seasons around us.

Sunset by the water: Amanda Vargo (10) took this photo in Cedar Lake while enjoying me ice cream. The lighting and the water made her capture a perfect scenery of how pretty ture is."

Nature at its Finest: Emilie Grossman (12) captures the pureness of nature. Taking dvantage of the rain, she was able to use Snodgrass' camera and capture this unedited picture.

Say Cheese!

Photography Club is run by none other than Mr. Snodgrass, using his love for photography and teaching it to the next generations, he holds photography after school every wednesday and anyone and everyone is welcome. The dedication that Snodgrass holds leave his students feeling satisfied at the end of the meeting. The photography clubs purpose is to get more students interesting in photography and teaching students how to take the best pictures possible. The photography club has been a huge help to the yearbook this year.

Q & A

Mr.Snodgrass
Photography Club
Director

What are some goals you encourage your students to reach?

I want students in photography to find their voice in the medium. Pictures tell stories. They are not just images. The are stories captured in light.

Art of Work

By Angela Ogrodowski

With a stroke of a brush or sculpting of clay, the art department gives kids a chance to bring their imagination to life, whether it's through drawing, painting, 2D and 3D or clay in ceramics.The art department this year has a new teacher, Ms. LaPage so this was a new experience for the sophomores this year and Ms. LaPage since neither had done ceramics before. It was a journey that lead to some blow up quite literally but had many successes. This year students were asked to make projects out of old car parts from the auto teacher Mr.Simon. This year may have been our best for people showing talents since it was a fresh start new year and a new teacher.

1. "Red Witch" By. Madison Moeller "This was a challenging piece due to its requirement of monochromatic and the contents of the art itself. It's got a lot of meaning; to find beauty in death and peace with yourself."
2. "A Walk" in the Woods" By Caitlyn Ashe. She came across this image and thought it had a skater vibe which she loved and because it takes place in autumn which happens to be her favorite season, it was a perfect fit.
3. "Fonzie" and "Sundae Funday" By Jamie Kuiken "Fonzie" is a portrait of my chihuahua wearing his favorite green sweater. "Sundae Funday" I believe that dessert is the most important part of my day and I work at Dairy Queen.
4. "Rose" By. Alyssa Moser, This is a painting of a picture she took of the rose she put on her Grandma's grave on her birthday, and later was a Christmas present to her Mom since she was so close with her Grandma. The elephant, titled "Aaron", is something she painted as a gift to one of her really good friends who is stationed in Kuwait, his birthday is the day before hers and she wanted to do something nice for him because he wouldn't be home with his family for Christmas.

"Two views"

By. Sunshynn Magee

She chose to do this project of a giraffe because they are her favorite animal and are very difficult to paint. She enjoyed using different perspectives while creating this piece.

"Can't Touch This"

By. Summer Poortenga

She made this piece for her best friend because she loves plants and cactus. Her favorite part about this piece of artwork is the different colors throughout.

"Erebus"

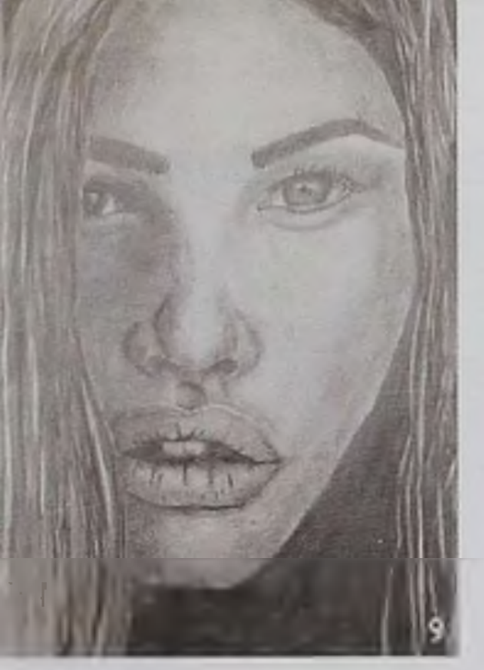
By. Maya Nietzel

She was inspired to create this dragon because the contrast of white on black creates interesting shadows and magnifies the intensity of the dragon's features. Shes very proud of this piece because she hasn't made anything like it before.

"Blurred Vision"

By. Breanna Fields

She chose to make the She chose this painting because it isn't typically her style. She decided to make the backgroun of the painting blurred so that the car would stand out against



"Thylane blondeau" By Saralyn James. Thylane is a French model. She decided to draw r because she is unique.

"Birds of a Feather" By. Emily Willoughby. She made this piece for the metamorphosis oject in painting class. My favorite part about it was my use of the lotus flower petals a the acock's feathers.

"Sweet Serenity" By. Nicole Krusza. This to her represents Sundays and the simplicity at comes with them. She love's relaxing on Sundays and drawing and to her this is the true spiration of this piece.

"Jack" By. Angela Ogrodowski Jack was the result of me being awful at ceramics. But he rned out to be one of my best pieces considering he was a normal pumpkin before he blew up in e kiln. Thus how Jack was born.

"Floral" By. Maiah Koslovsky. This piece was created as an organic structure so she wanted keep that theme when decorating. She chose flowers because it continued the natural flow of e box.

12. "Frankenstein's Monster and the Bride of Frankenstein" By Ms. LaPage's, Drawing, 2D, 3D, and Painting classes. They all worked together to create this Chuck Close inspired portrait. Each student drew a tile using pencil, and could match their small tile with the same values, but could change texture and pattern. When all of the pieces were put together, the artists were surprised to see that they created these portraits! The art students created these huge mural portraits just in time for the Halloween season.

15. "Slink" By. Emily Gonzalez. He's made out of different metal pieces and car parts. Her boyfriend and his dad helped her weld it together. It was really fun to make and everyone really enjoyed seeing it!

16. "Sea Turtle" By. Sara Light. This project was based on something that describes us. Since one of the places she'd like to travel is the Philippines she felt a sea turtle would fit best.

17. "Bird on Fire" By. Madeline Bogathy. This piece was meant for a project of self-representation, but she just wanted to make a bird. Sometimes its just like that, you know.

18. "Sahara" By. Elisabeth Vaught. She chose the colors white because of its elegance and brown because it was a nice contrast to it. She is very proud of her piece and knew from the beginning she would give it to her mom because she loves getting hand made gifts and putting them up around there house .

19 "Geometry" By. Jaden Ferguson. She chose the color purple, because it's my favorite color. She also chose the color peacock because it complimented the purple very well.

20. "Robo the Flamingo" By Jamie Kuiken. This was created from old car parts, colorful wires, and light bulbs! Robo enjoys eating nuts and bolts for breakfast, lunch, dinner, and most importantly, DESSERT!)

21. "Blue" By Maiah Koslovsky. She created this peace by adding different aspects of nature. She wanted to incorporate pieces from sea, land and sky and draw it together with one color.

Get in Gear

By. Emillie Grossman and Amanda Vargo

Automobiles are changing and developing more and more everyday. Lowell High School offers an auto class for students to learn about all the parts that go into making cars and really prepare students that wish to go into a career involving cars. The auto class is also involved in a new addition to next year, a racing team and they have been responsible for building the go kart below. Also along with the new responsibilities, the auto shop has been given a new location right outside of our school, a huge new building where they can have more space for students to work on cars.

Leon Simon
Auto Teacher

How has being in auto class changed your life?
It has put a bigger focus on what I would like to do in the future. I have found something that I really enjoy and could do as a career.

Zachary Vargo
Grade 12

What is your favorite thing about teaching auto?
When students get it' starts understanding a new concept or are able to accomplish a new task of servicing a cars brakes or figuring out what is wrong with an engine and then are able to fix it, bring the car back to life, drive away, feeling accomplished.

1. Little Vision! Sophomore Tyler Regan works hard painting his model of a Jeep. Dedication and determination goes into every project, no matter how small.
2. Girls like cars too! Amanda Blankenship (10) cutting elbow grease working on an engine. Showing off her automotive skills and showing the world that girls can know just as much about cars.
3. Go Karts! As a possible new racing team for LHS next year, the automotive shop has had the privilege to build and customize their own go kart.

Project Lead The Way

Project lead the way is a mixture of projects never seen in any other classes before. This class involves a mixture different opportunities including designing different things on the computer, making puzzle cubes, building tiny houses, machines, and etc. One of the projects we decided to focus on is a giant foosball table built by manufacturing student. Seniors, Jacob Post and Robert Miller, with sophomores Samuel Chandler, Bradley Goldsmith and Jake Steward made their idea come to life. Starting with basic design on the computer and later building the game with their hands and materials provided by the class. PLTW is a great class for learning how to design and make your ideas come to life.

Giant games! Seniors Jacob Post and Robert Miller, Sophomores Samuel handler, Bradley Goldsmith and Jake Steward came together and made a giant foosball ble. This required extensive planning and teamwork to make this happen, truly one of e coolest things made here at LHS.

Coding robots: This robot, when coded correctly, is designed to sort marbles. In der to make the machine work, you have to type the codes in manually.

Tiny building: Mr. Peterson has his students design a 2-story house on the mputer. This includes all the measurements needed and supplies them with the aterials to build the houses frame.

Lets Print! The most exciting addition of new technology to LHS is the 3D printer. he students create their designs on the program Inventor and watch it come to life as ey make their 2D creation a reality.

5 Behind the Scenes: All these cool projects had to have a starting point, in PLTW you will learn to make the blueprints and needed measurements for all your creations. This is a blueprint of one of the small houses being constructed. Showing the students originality and creativity from start to finish.

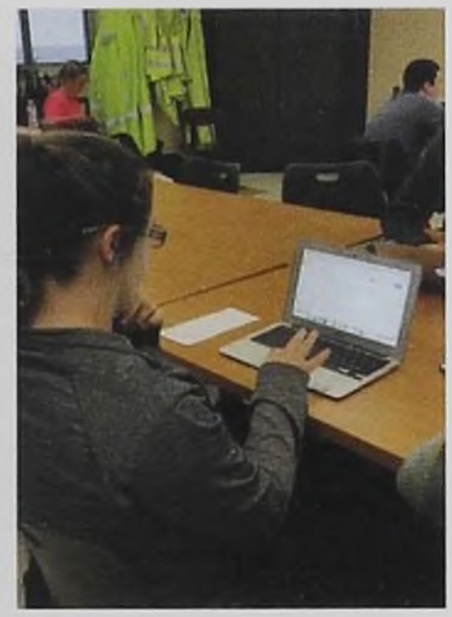
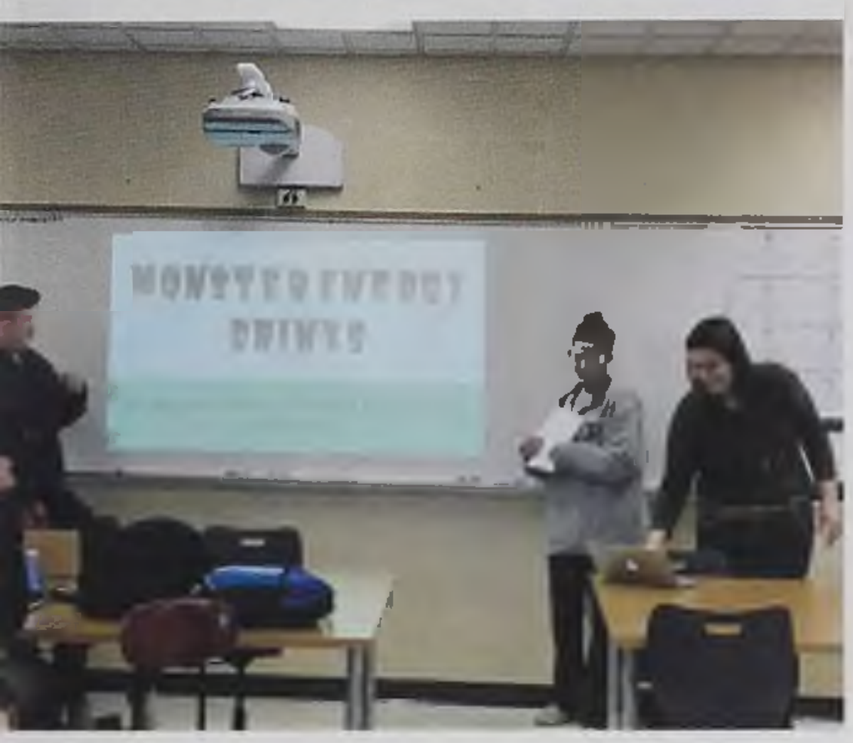
Before planting their first flower or building a fish tank, the students of the Natural Resources and Horticulture classes learn about the importance of plants and the environment in these year long classes. These classes are both dual credit. Horticulture deals with plants, floral designing, and keeping the plants well in the greenhouse. Natural Resources is more of an environmental class, dealing with wildlife, outdoor recreation, etc. Mr. Garling, the teacher of these classes, definitely knows how much work goes into making these classes what they are and has the best knowledge of it. "I have a degree from Purdue in Agriculture, and many of the required courses contributed. I have taken other courses to fine tune some of these topics since these areas have changed over the years. Originally, my courses were more food science and Agriculture production directed. These classes are very beneficial, and we hope you decide to take one of these classes next year.

1. Artificially Beautiful Horticulture students work hard to finish their centerpieces. Student's broke the center pieces down and into smaller, more decorative ones. 2. Keeping it clean Daniel Norris (11) & Daniel Reed (11), help clean out one of the old tanks to make the fish live in a nice environment for the rest of the school year. 3. Green Finger Juniors, Colin Arndt and Tristan Degonia work hard in their horticulture class.They know that water is a very essential part of the growing process of a plant. 4. Holiday Spirit Beautiful poinsettias are the number one plant the horticulture kids work hard to grow. Because they were so delicate, everyone had to be extra careful to make sure the batch was ready before Christmas break. 5. Fishy Situation Both Zack Cory (11) and Zachary Buss (12) help out Mr. Garling in his search for an escaped fish who needs to be returned to his tank. Later, they found the fish and returned it to his rightful home.





Justice is Served

By: Skylar Lewis

Criminal Justice is a wonderful program. It teaches students not only history about criminals but, about law enforcement as well. According to teacher Mr. O'donnell, the main focus of the class is "Teaching students about crime and introducing people to law enforcement and all aspects of it." O'donnell, who spent 30 years serving as a police officer, retired and came to LHS to be a teacher for the class. Criminal Justice is broken down into 4 sections.

These sections include: Intro to Criminal Justice, Intro to Criminology, Traffic investigations and Criminal Investigations. Not only do you get high school credit for this class but you can receive three college credits through Ivy Tech as well. This year, the Criminal Justice class went going on a field trip to Crown Point, Indiana. This is a 2 day field trip where the class gets to visit the morgue, crime laboratory, jail and the courthouse.

(1): All about the facts: Lauren Sadus (11) working on her presentation for Criminal Justice. She put in a lot of hard work and preparation to make sure she gets the grade she deserves. (2): Working hard: Alexis Tomasik (12) is working on a project to present in front of the entire class. She was excited to see her hard work pay off. (3) Perspectives: From a students perspective, the Criminal Justice class seems to be working hard. The students surrounded were listening to Senior Maxwell Dooge talk in front of his entire class. (4):Leading the way: Jared Spivey (12), Hannah Steffens (12) and Samantha Rossman (10) are presenting their presentation on Monster Energy Drinks. While presenting they had to keep in mind not to goof of so they didn't get a bad grade. (5) Keeping Track: Kylie Peters (12), Morgan Holland (12) Jennifer Swain are hanging up their NIMS certificate .Their NIMS certificate will help them with their careers later on in life.

Mrs. Zea through the years ...

By, Emily Kozina and Hannah Soto

Mrs. Zea has been an inspiration to all her students, she loves to teach and prepare students for their future in a medical career. Her students have nothing but good things to say about her through the 16 years she has been teaching at Lowell High School. "Mrs. Zea is the kind of teacher who tries her absolute best to teach her students. She looks for every opportunity to make it easier to learn or to understand something" , says Senior Emily Henke, "She wants her students to succeed in the class". While we all know of Mrs. Zea's passion for teaching, some people might be surprised to know: "I enjoy cooking", says Mrs. Zea, "I love cooking big meals for my family". She also loves being home, and spending time with her family. Thank you Mrs. Zea for the many years you have contributed to our school and our students.

1. Making Memories: Close bonds form when good people come together for a good reason. 2. Good times: Mrs. Zea and her students pose in their nursing scrubs. Many laughs and goofy moments have been shared over the years. 3. Catch a Breath: Mrs. Zea's students work hard to perfect the traditional life saving CPR move and making su that the patient's airway is open, they know or day the hard work with totally pay off. 4. Tim Well Spent: As we all know Mrs. Zea loves her students and wants them to succeed in all they do, this is just another example of the valuable time spent listening and working with them. 5. Time Well Spent: As we all know Mrs. Zea loves her students and wants them to succeed in all they do, this is just another example of the valuable time spent listening and working with them.

Hitting the Books

Health Careers & Anatomy

Anatomy and Health Careers both entail more than just showing up. Both classes require a lot of studying different parts of the body from your head to your toes, and how they work as a whole. "A ton of work goes into these classes, they require a lot of note taking and studying outside of class. If you are not prepared to study on your own, then the class becomes 10x harder." Says Gabriela Malave (12). "Mrs. Zea teaches this class in a fantastic way! She structures it just like a college anatomy course, so you know what to expect if you plan on taking an anatomy class in college." Says Hannah Crouch. This is Mrs. Zea's advice for her students; "Do your best 100 percent of the time and always follow your heart., you will never go wrong with that in life!"

1. Hard Work Pays Off: The students give their best in our health careers class, pushing it now will help them later. 2. Rising Temperature: Katlyn Paul (12) checks the temperature of Briana Crouse (12), as they practice needed skills on each other. 3. Pointing it Out: Mrs. Zea's amazing students listen as she goes in depth of the human body. 4. Keeping it Together: The Anatomy class prepares for their big test coming up, they have been working very hard to perfect everything. 5. Under Pressure: Senior Amy Rolniak tests Emily Henke's blood pressure to practice for future use. 6. The One and Only: Mrs. Zea loves teaching her students, she shows it through her teaching and a whole lot of grading.

Designing the Future

By: Emily Salomon

The graphic design class is a very hardworking and fun class to be apart of. All of the students who take the class can show off their creative side using actual equipment that is used in the real world! New to the class this year, is a shirt press that allows students to create shirts not only for themselves, but for various clubs and athletics teams as well. They also have a 3D printer and a banner printer to make 3D objects and to make banners for around the school, and the town. With this technology, the kids can create the products for their projects. They can create their own shirts, banners, flyers, and more. The class also produces products for companies around the town of Lowell which according to class instructor Mr. Delgado, brings an authentic atmosphere to the class. "To run the class like a business, we have taken real world projects from real customers. We have worked with the outside community and not just from the school. Our group has to meet with them and get their ideas to create the final product."

1. Sign Me Up: When you walk into the Graphic Design room, you see the banner to represent the class. This banner was made by their own banner make- for the class to be hung up. 2. Credit the Edit: Jared Brock (12) and Baelon Dunbar (12) worked on their picture together. They used photoshop to create and edit their photo.

3. Cut It Out: Wesley Clifford (12) works on the banner for the Autoshop classroom. He made this banner for the class to hang up. 4. Hot Off The Press: Chloe Thiele (10) and Christina Vandenoever (10) both use the banner machine. They are printing this for their project. 5. Real World Connections: The sign in the classroom shows the schedule for the projects that are due. 6. Press It On: Emily Kozina (12) uses the T-shirt press to create her own shirt. She uses this machine to press a design on her shirt. 7. On Track: Kali Manojlovich (10) writes on the board to show when her project is due. 8. Creation Station: A group of students help out Mr. Delgado on making a banner. They all work together to finish a banner. 9. On Display: Kali Manojlovich (10) and Sydney Siedentopf (10) both hang up the poster that they worked on together. They created the image and measured the sizes to print the perfect banner.

Singing Loud And Proud

By. Angel Marsh

Hands to your side, smile, and sing loud! Behind the scenes it takes a lot of time, effort, and flat notes to bring together amazing songs for choir. Our choirs are all different from sounds, appearances, and songs but all have the same goal in mind, to perfect each song before the big night. Choir is a place where more than one class comes together as a whole. There are four different choirs, beginning mixed choir which is where everyone starts off, male and female. After mixed choir there is Debs, the first level of all womens choir. Accents, the second level of all female choir, and finally premiere choir, this is with the most experience and has both male and female parts. No two singing voices sound identical, no two choirs sound identical.

1. This picture captures one of the most remembrance performance the choir had, their 1st concert.
2. Show choir doing what they do best and putting small dances with their songs to entertain the audience and put on a great show.
3. Arms to the side, deep breaths and a lot of focus was used here.
4. Show choir loves dancing as they sing. They put together different dance moves for different songs.

Q&A

What does choir mean to you?

Madison Avery
Grade 10
"Choir to me means a place where I can be myself and spread equality."

Emillie Grossman
Grade 10
"Choir is important to me, I grow into the musician I want to be ."

Matthew Iwinski
Grade 11
"Choir is my escape. Mrs. Rickaby creates a positive atmosphere for her students which lifts any stress or 'drama' off my shoulders."

Choir Bonding Time

All the time spent practicing, and preforming, you really form a bond with the people you sing with. All the choirs get together for an after school event called "choir bonding time." They all had a blast doing a scavenger hunt around town. After returning back to school they settled down to have some pizza and hang out.

The Woman Behind it All

Meet Mrs. Rickaby, the teacher of all the choirs here at Lowell High School, who also hosts all the musicals in the auditorium. She has been teaching here at Lowell for 8 years! All of her students adore and love her, some even call her mom.

"Teaching multiple choirs is hard because I have to learn so many parts for each song for each choir (about 60 parts total for each concert). Also, because we do new music for each concert, I am constantly learning new material to teach, unlike many other teachers who teach the exact same material every year to multiple classes." - Mrs. Rickaby

When you think of family, you might think of relatives that are all related to you in some way, shape, or form by blood. When it comes to the Lowell Dynamic Devils Show Choir, family is defined in a different way. Out of the group, there are no two individuals alike! Each person has a unique voice that plays a vital role into the sound and the overall victory in each performance. The group is filled with a mix of students from each grade, unique personalities, and different voice types that make up the Show Choir we know and love! Each group member's voice contributes to the angel like sound that carries across the room in each performance. You couldn't find another show choir that better shows the definition hard work and dedication to their voice than this group! Senior Payton Leoni quotes, "Our lil' show choir community is definitely like a family. We all bond so closely because we're together every week. I will always remember all of the little memories and jokes between my friends and me. We sing, we dance, we laugh about random stuff. It's a blast." So far, this year has been a large success with their fall and winter concerts leaving the crowds in aw due to their beautifully choreographed routines. From an Aladdin Medley to Radioactive by Imagine Dragons, our Lowell High School show choir remains and will continue to shock the crowd for further shows to come!

1) During their winter concert, this group of prime time singers clap to the beat!

2) Juniors Hayley Durall and Megan Linskens express their enthusiasm brightening the mood in the fun Aladdin Medley!

3) Junior Matthew Iwinski shows his power as he sings his deep meaningful notes in the Aladdin Medley!

4) This mixed group of freshman and sophomores get in sync creating a wonder clapping masterpiece!

5) Seniors Kristen Newlin, Payton Leoni, and Sophomores Emma Kharchaf, Mia Leoni, and Skylar Rambeaux, Sing loud and proud with spirit!

6) With there being only a couple of guys in Show Choir, they sing and dance till they drop showing their amazing devotion for their team!

7) Leaving senior Elizabeth Atchley and next year senior Hayley Durall show their bright and smiling faces as they sing the last song for show choir that night.

1. Frosty the Snowman! The adaptive music class with some help of some mentors sing Frosty the Snowman in the winter choir concert, The students had so much fun with this song and had no difficulty lighting up the stage with their smiles. 2. Dedication: Jacob Weber (10) and Sam Hofmann (8) show their hard work and dedication while nailing every choreographed move. They showed their holiday spirit with their sweaters and christmas hats.

Making it shine: Brianna Gliwa (9) lights up the audience with er sparkled outfit and amazing music skills. Her smile showed her ove of music and the amount of joy she was feeling. 4. Dressed to mpress! Rachel Hackett (9) and Mitchell Walkowiak (8) singing at he winter concert. Nothing says like Christmas than singing in weaters

True holiday spirit! James Price (12) smiles from ear to ear. He nailed every dance move.

Adaptive Music

By. Amanda Vargo

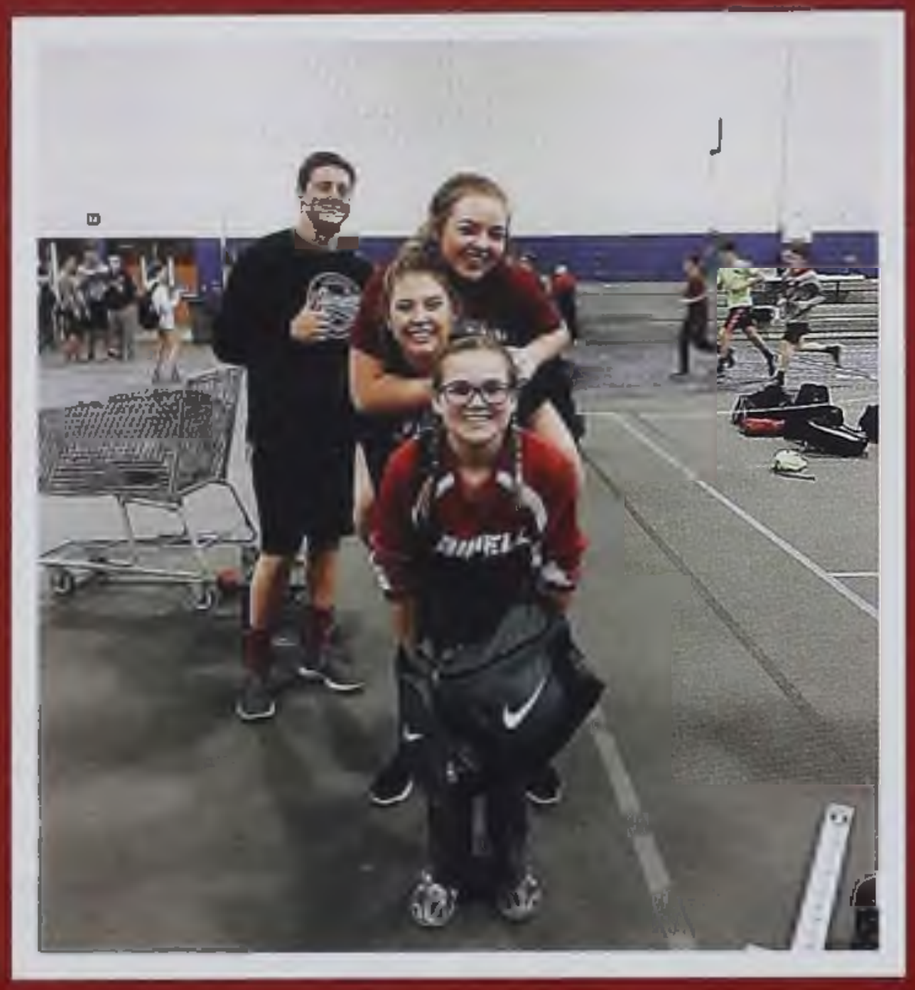
Q & A

Adaptive Music is a class that allows students to teach different elements of music, including choir, band, and theatre, to the special needs class. This is our second year in the class and we have done some amazing stuff with them! We sing, we dance, and we even write and perform our own musicals to parents and teachers. Adaptive Music encourages us to travel out of our comfort zones, and it improves our leadership skills, teamwork, work ethic, and our independence, as well as the overall music skills of the students we teach. All of these kids are a blast to work with, and we've built some amazing friendships with them. We can both proudly say that this is our favorite class of our past four years in high school and we're definitely going to miss them when we graduate.

Written By: Gianna Groebner

How do the students react when learning songs in your class?

In adaptive music kids learn different ways. Some like to sing, some are better at playing instruments or dancing. We focus on their strengths. Usually they are smiling constantly, especially when performing in front of a crowd.



We are the #FaceOfSportsmanship!

SHOOT your SHOT

By: Alexis Salazar and Marlena Dominguez

The Boys Red Devil Basketball team had a very competitive year. With the loss of some vital players, the team rose to the occasion and had a tremendous season. Every game played by our Red Devils was performed with heart and soul. The boys were consistently pushed to their limits in both practices and games but these boys never quit on each other. Basketball is a highly competitive sport and takes a lot of practice to excel in. The boys practiced day in and day out to impress their fans.

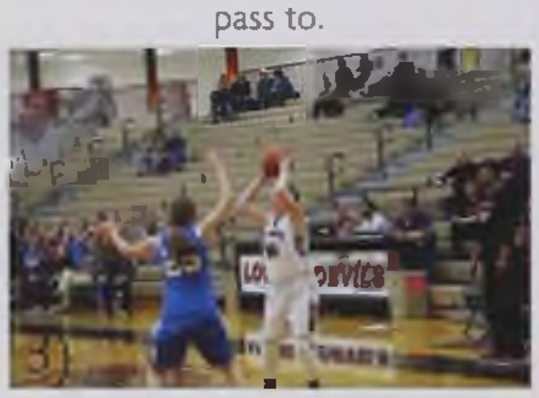
Freshman Chris Mantis, has spent the past 12 years playing basketball to get the opportunity to start as a varsity player his freshman year. “My first couple of games I was extremely nervous. Some people believed the team wasn't going to be good since we lost a lot of seniors, I believe we still had a great and successful season.” Whatever the score may be at the end of the game does not matter nearly as much as the inspiration, spirit and excitement the team brings to the community.

1. Pushing Forward - Junior Dustin Hudak (22) scores once again, pushing past the opponents sweaty fingertips that lay upon the ball.
2. Jump Jump - Alex Longoria (9) was determined to pass on the ball, despite the tall Westside boys that stood in front of him.
3. Westside is Taken - Freshman Tyson Chavez races down the court as he tries for a last minute three pointer to strengthen the score. (10)
4. Take Your Shot! - Freshman Kyler Newcom (42) sets up to take a shot at the basket to increase the score before the end of the second quarter.
5. Almost There - Freshman Alex Longoria (40) kept the ball driving up through the paint during their game against Westside. Striving to put points up on the board for the Lowell Red Devils.

6. On Top of the Game: Sophomore Ethan Wilkes (30) swerves through these tough boys, going for the lay up. Keeping his head high, pushing through to score for the Devils.
7. Reach for the Sky! Senior Noah Durr (44) jumps up high while stretching through all of the West Side boys. Doing this in order to score for the Lowell Red Devils!
8. Quest for the Net: Freshman Christopher Mantis (30) keeps his guard up as he races down the court trying to score much needed points.
9. Fast and Furious: Junior Dustin Hudak (22) looking forward, he finds the best path to lead his team to success. Passing the ball to one of his positive, cheering teammates.

1) Freshman Jordan Yuhasz brings the heat as she races down the court to fit in a last minute layup to heighten the score in the 3rd quarter.

2) Junior Varsity player Katelyn Buds holds her guard as her teammate Isabella Vasko races down the court!
3) With ball in hand, Junior Varsity player Victoria Langen looks for a near by shooter to pass to.



Junior Varsity Highlights

The Lowell Girls Basketball Junior Varsity players had a strong year filled with improvement and strong teamwork. Their hard work and dedication shows in there strong season and is admired by many! They played their hearts out and succeeded in building not just a team filled with friendships, but a new family in the making.

8) Natalie Kotlin brings her game as she aims for a layup.

10) Sarah Richardson uses her swiftness to zip through the opposing players to score.

9) Alivia Barta steals the ball to race it down the court giving our team the upper hand.

11) Danielle Collins suspends her arms sending a tight pass to the teams point guard.

Make the basket!!

"You miss 100% of the shots you don't take."

This year's Lowell High School yearbook has been about the rebuilding of our school and community. When it comes to the Lowell Girls Varsity and Junior Varsity Basketball Teams, this year was about rebuilding and strengthening the wonderful team we know and love. The Asst. Principal Shannon Richards said, "They are a very determined and hardworking group of young ladies that have been working really hard this year." We are all extremely proud of our girls and we know that they will continue to bring that strong will power we see in them on the court to the later games and seasons to come.

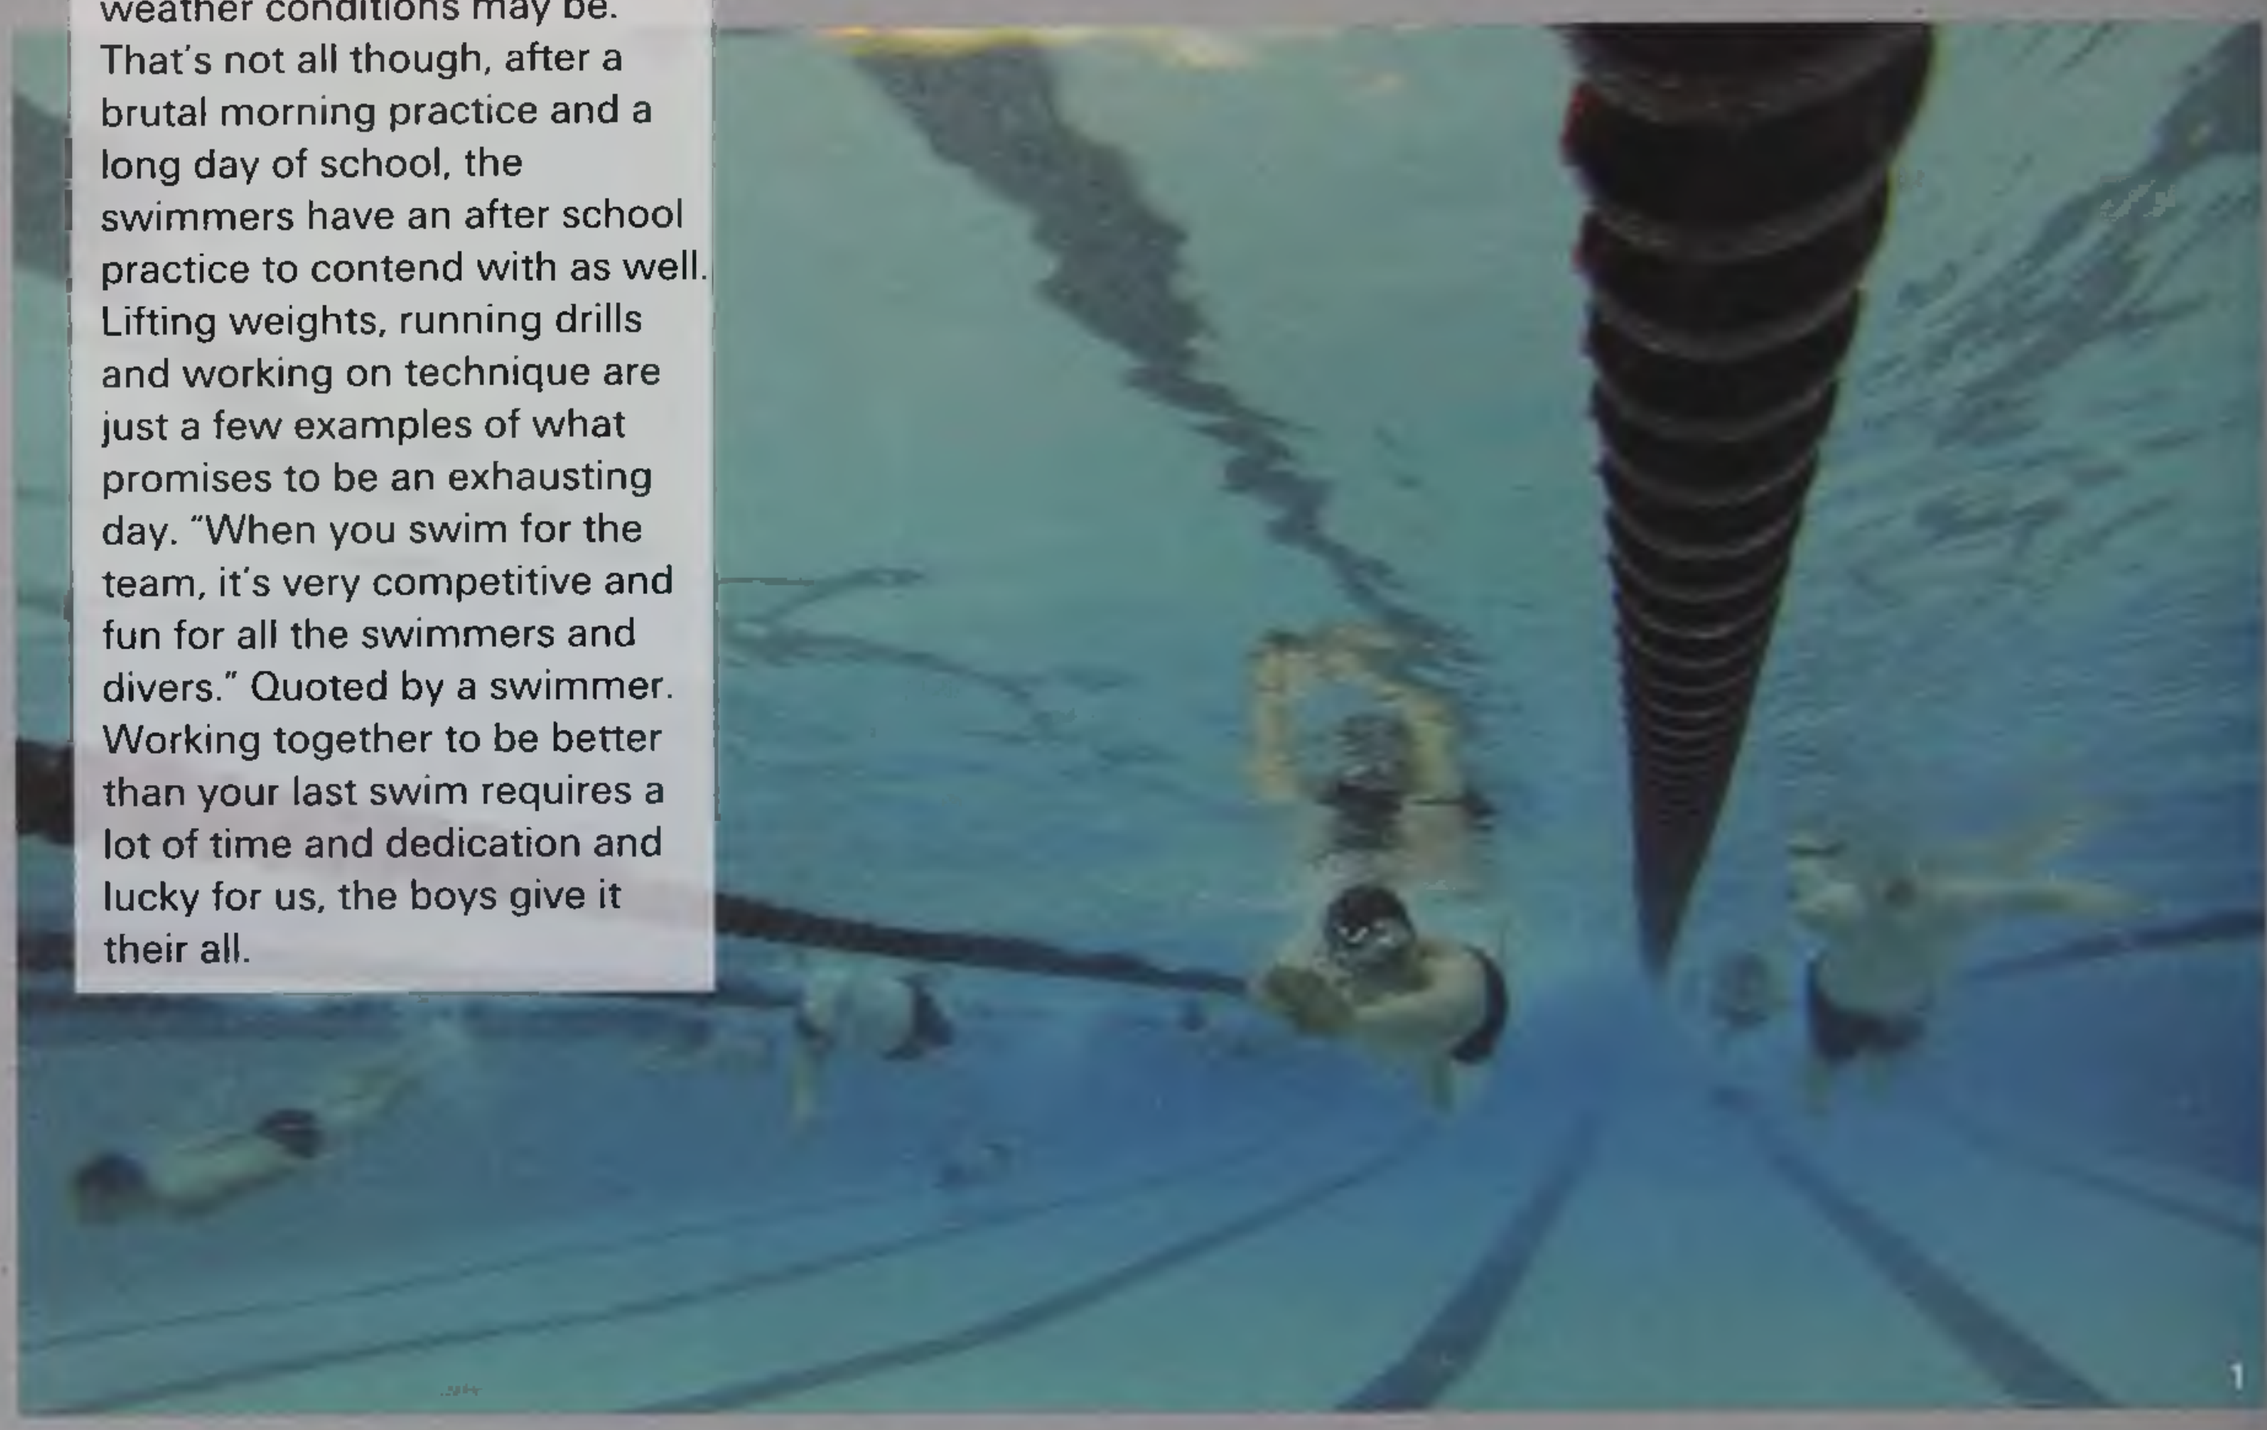
Water Wonders

By: Emily Salomon

When you think of swimming, you typically think of spending time with friends on a hot summer day, but not if you are part of the Red Devil Boy's swim team. Instead of summer splashes, this team has to wake up early to attend their morning practice no matter what the weather conditions may be. That's not all though, after a brutal morning practice and a long day of school, the swimmers have an after school practice to contend with as well. Lifting weights, running drills and working on technique are just a few examples of what promises to be an exhausting day. "When you swim for the team, it's very competitive and fun for all the swimmers and divers." Quoted by a swimmer. Working together to be better than your last swim requires a lot of time and dedication and lucky for us, the boys give it their all.



1. The LHS swimmers all swim across the pool. They swim their fastest while they are underwater.
2. Chris Breault (11) takes a dives head first into the pool. Chris is new to the team this year and he has improved much through the season.
3. Gage Torres (12) swims his hardest at his meet. He tries to do his personal best.
4. Cedric Caschetta (12) takes a leap off the diving board. He dives into the pool at his very best.

5. Brenden Kinnis (12) swims in his meet. He's gasping for air before he finishes his race.

6. Marcus Fowler (11) strokes while swimming in his meet. He swims fast and finishes the race.

7. Some of the team stands together while watching their teammates compete in their races.

8. Bradley Miley (12) strokes in the pool during his meet. He swims his best and finishes.

9. Payton Lachcik (9) swims across the pool. He puts all his effort when he swims at his meet.

Like Father, Like Son:

Senior Ethan Krucina broke his father, Doug Krucina's 25 year old record in the 100 Backstroke. Just by .03 seconds! Ethan's time of 56.00 surpassed the old record of 56.03. Congratulations Ethan! What a fantastic way to end your last season of swimming!

Breaking the Record

Making a Splash

By. Kennedy Shultz and Averie Miner

Our girls swim and diving team dove into the season this year making a huge splash! These girls spend hours every day working on their technique during their early morning practices and late evening practices. Practicing everyday these girls always manage to show hard work, dedication and commitment. Our girls swimming and diving team is huge on sportsmanship and team bonding.

With all of these hours spent in the pool, they remain close to one another all season long. Pushing through all the ups and downs of the dreadful practices together. Cheering each other on and never failing to cheer someone up, they are not just a team they are truly family. The girls strive to progress throughout the season and it pays off! Stroking with passion and love for the sport!

1. Just Keep Swimming: Sophomore Korrin Skinner has climbed over many obstacles during the past two seasons. She keeps working hard, and strives to do her absolute best

2. Technique: Katherine Smetana (10) and Morgan Schroder (9) watch and record as Diamond Ryles (12) performs her first dive. From this recording, they learned different ways to perfect their technique while cheering on their teammates!

3. The Best of Me: Senior Jamie Kuiken has learned a lot through swimming and stated "Swimming has taught me how to push myself through tough times, and I will always remember to motivate others." She has swam for 4 years now, and has faced many tough practices!

4. Splish Splash!: Freshman Diver Morgan Schroeder competes in her first high school meet. Scoring 89.5 on all six of her dives! 5. Jump on in!: Senior Diamond Ryles has been a leader and teacher to all of the girls and boys on the diving team. With teaching herself to dive, she has performed well over the past few seasons and has inspired many people on the team. 6. Love the Sportsmanship: Junior Jordyn Boyer starts off the 200 Free Relay with her proud teammates cheering for her! The people in the relay were Korrin Skinner, Isabella Tieri (9) and Maitlynd Plants. 7. It's more than just a sport!: Sophomore Brooke Otis has good intentions about this year and the years to come. She is always positive and working very hard to improve.

8. Years to Come: Freshman Isabella Tieri prefers to swim the 100 backstroke and the 50 freestyle. Over the season she has learned a lot about swimming and plans to continue for years to come. 9. Truly Inspiring: Sophomore Heather Karm has swam for only two years but has managed to catch up to all the other girls! She is inspiring to everyone who swims with her!

1. Robert Miller (12) wins his match against his Highland opponent. He put his best effort in the match and he was proud for winning his match. 2. Shawn Hollis (10) circles the mat. He was ready to take down his opponent during his Highland match. 3. Lucas Scott (12) works hard to take down his opponent. He went on to win his match.

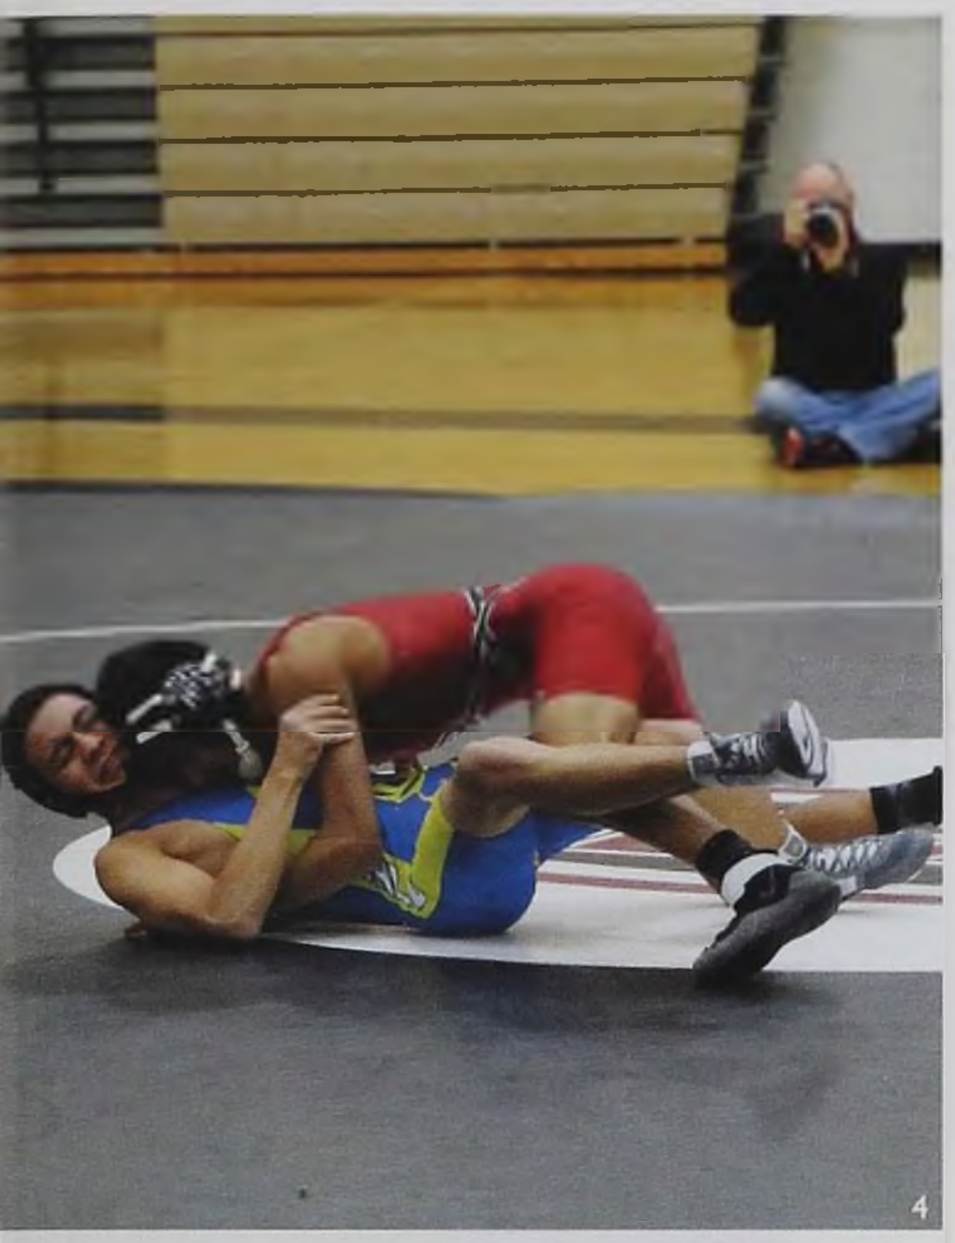
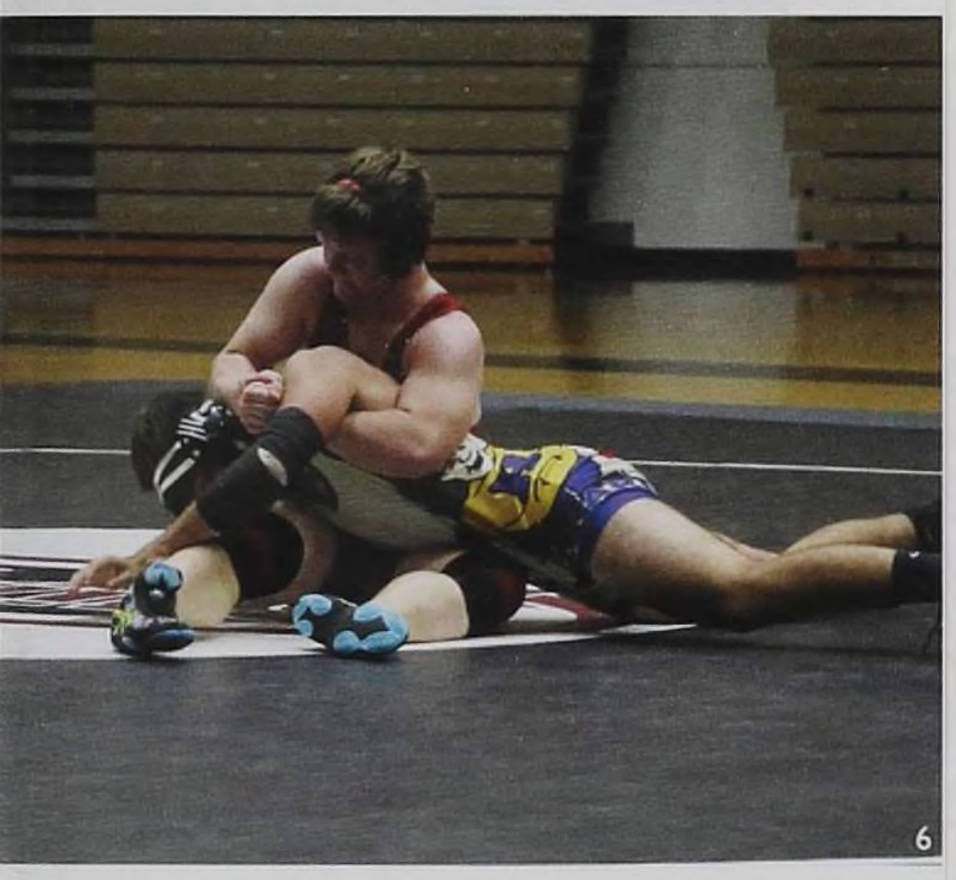
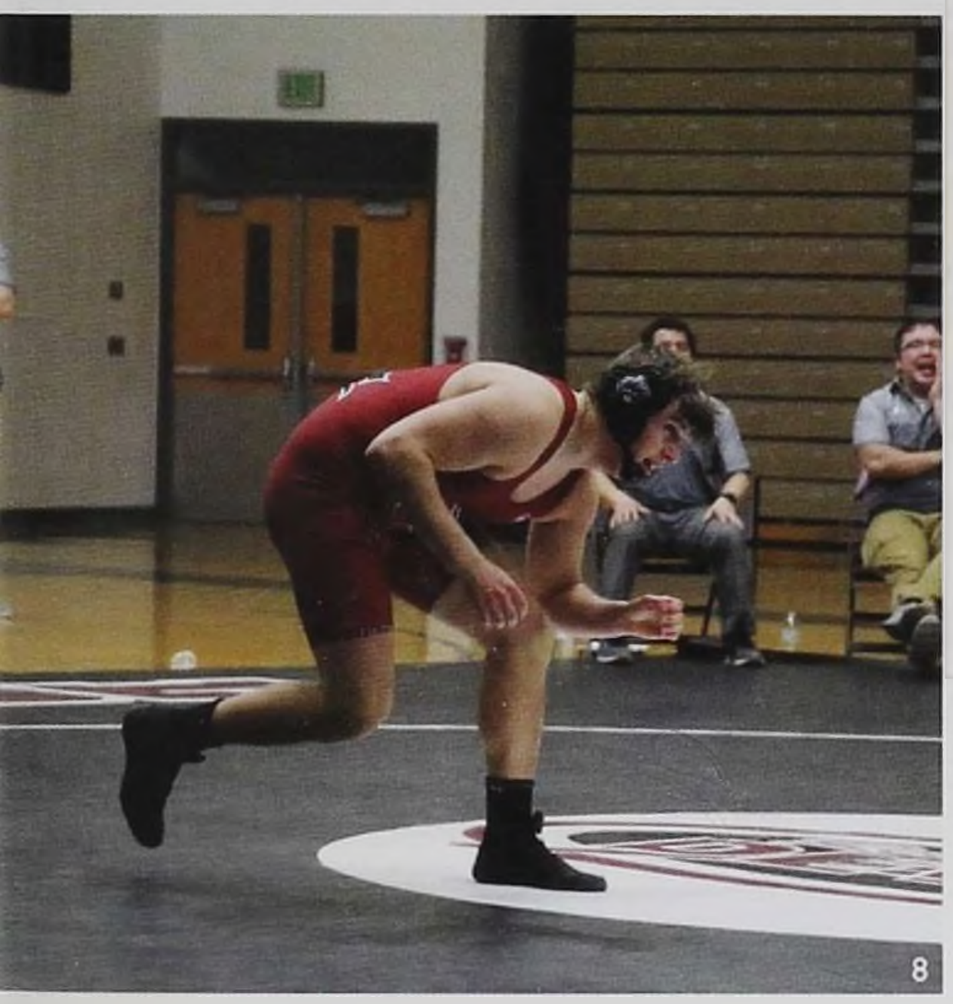
Wrestling is all about being able to maintain your weight class and stay in best shape as possible. Ask any wrestler and they will tell you their days consist of works practicing their technique, lifting weights, cardio and maintaining a healthy diet. According to Junior Andres Moreno, wrestlers making their individual weight class is critical to the seasons success. "When I first got into Wrestling, the sport just clicked to me. My motivation to be on the team is to be better than last year. I want to achieve my goals to better myself. Wrestling is a fun sport and when you win, it's the best feeling ever." Even though matches are individual, the team comes together to build a support system for one another and to discuss strategies for upcoming matches.



4. Andres Moreno (11) holds down his opponent during his match against his Highland opponent. He is very proud to show pride for his win. 5. Lucas Scott (12) puts all of his effort into taking down his Hobart opponent. He put all he had into this match and took the win. 6. Jake Steward (11) takes on his Hobart opponent. Jake wins his match and adds points to Lowell. 7. Chandler Austgen (11) circles the mat in a tie up with his opponent. They went on with the match, and Chandler won points for his team.



8. Hunter Rohweder (10) is heading into the match reading to defeat. Putting all of his effort, he won his match against his Hobart opponent. 9. Kevin Hooley (11) takes down his opponent in the Highland match. He fought hard in this match and won.



Stick the landing!

By: Jessica Hunt

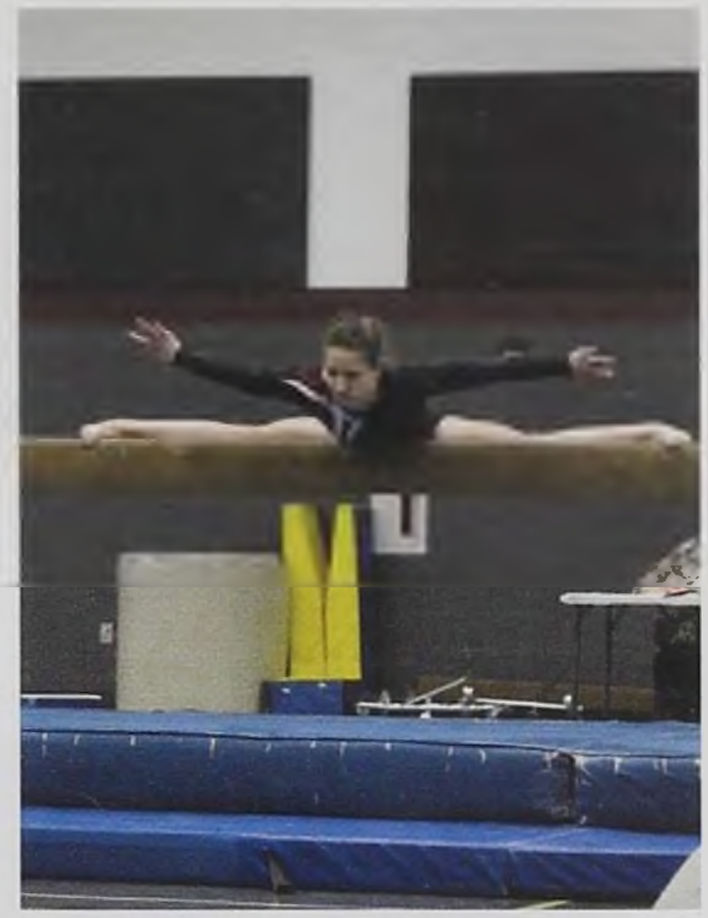
So you think gymnastics is easy? Well jumping on a four inch beam and swinging for a tiny wood bar is not as easy as it looks. Though events are scored individually, you can feel the teamwork jumping through this team. These girls work hard to have pointed feet, sharp movements, and a smile on their face even if they don't stick the landing. Our gymnastics team swung into a great, competitive season. The vault, beam, bars, and floor aren't what makes gymnastics a sport it is the people doing it that make it a sport.

Vaulting to the win!
Sophomore, Alexis Ratkay on vault at the teams mock meet. Alexis is one our highest ranking gymnasts on the team and has been on the team for two years.

Strike a pose! Sophomore, Alexis Ratkay doing her floor routine at our home meet. Ratkay had a great season this year and kept showing her new skills.

From the bottom to the top! Freshman, Josie Reed going from the low bar to the high bar while at a home meet. Even though Josie is new to the team this year as freshman she is always gaining more and more new skill.

Dismount! Sophomore, Olivia Biskoff doing her dismount at our home meet. Olivia is a great part of our team.



Splittin' on these beams
Sophomore, Olivia Bikoff doing her beam routine at a home meet. This is Bikoff's second year on the LHS team.

Team Time! Our gymnastics team all sitting together during a home meet. The team has had a great season so far.

Just chalking it up!
Sophomore, Jolie Damm getting all chalked up before competing on bars and the teams mock meet. Damm is new to the team this year and has had a good season.

All in this together! This is our girls team at their last home meet. All of our girls did a great job and received flowers from their coaches.

Sidney Grace,
From day 1, you have been full of fire & independence. You were never afraid to do anything (which landed us in the ER more than once). You have made it your life's mission to save those who can't save themselves; for this, we couldn't be more proud of you! Remember: Always know your worth!

With so much LOVE and prayers for an extraordinary life,
Dad, Mom, Taylor & Mike

"See the line where the sky
meets the sea, It calls me
No one knows how far it goes
If the wind in my sail on the sea stays behind me
One day I'll know
If I go there's just no telling
how far I'll go"

Haley Penman

We are blessed to call you our baby girl! Your desire to always do your best has made us extremely proud! The future is yours and we will always love you more!!!
Love, Mom & Dad

Letter from the Editors

Being the only one that has stayed from last year hasn't been easy. From carrying the class on my back and teaching them everything they need to know, to having my peers help me with my spreads, it's been a rough but exciting experience. Though I've taken many courses throughout my high school career, I've discovered that you'll always have something to work on. Whether it is taking photos or fixing errors, yearbook has made me into the ultimate multitasker.

To the future editor,
you will definitely feel overwhelmed at times but I promise you when the book you spent endless hours working on is finally in your hands, it will be one of the greatest feelings to look at the pages you helped with!
And finally to LHS if don't buy a yearbook you'll regret not being able to open up the yearbook and look back at all the memories you helped capture.

Alexis Salazar
Editor-in-Chief

Upon my senior year I decided to take yearbook for the first time and it was one of the best decisions I ever made. This year was a learning experience for many of the us who created this incredible project, with some stepping up to plate and taking the challenge of something new. Yearbooks are something people cherish for a lifetime, and yearbook class has allowed me to be apart of those everlasting memories. I hope you are as ecstatic over the book as we were making it.

RECLAIMING SPRING 2018

It's sunny and 75, everyone can't wait to be celebrating festivities outside. Spring break is the time of the semester that gives students one final break before testing begins.
Many students travel to a different location to have fun in the sun. This year, Lowell High School's spring break trip was to Spain which was a blast for the students. For many students spring break feels like a teaser of summer, and motivates students to finish the school year strong so they can finally enjoy those 2 months of freedom with no school.

A Game to Remember

By. Kayla Collard, Jessica Hunt & Angel Marsh

As the heat increases on the court during our rival game against Crown Point, the team's mindset isn't what you might think. Instead of preparing to beat the heat of our rival, our team is more focused on uniting together with Crown Point to show true unity and kindness in our school. This year's game was definitely one for the books when we consider the great sportsmanship, the amazing high speed game, and the amazing kindness and care shown by both teams! Every year our amazing growing special olympics team works very hard to bring their game! Also, our Lowell High School Peer Mentors spend countless hours preparing, decorating and designing this games components just to make it perfect and a great experience for everyone.

1.) Brianna Gilwa had a fun time along with the peer mentors there to help all the kids. 2.) Students get to feel like a basketball star while walking out with the spotlight on them. 3.) The kids are going head to head to see who will win. 4.) Bobby Calabrese had his game face on ready to beat the other team. 5.) Students made the special needs kids feel special by going out and supporting them.

1.) A huge thanks to the peer mentors. They did so much for the special needs prom and the special olympics. 2.) The theme this year was under the sea so they wanted to make it look as if you were walking into the ocean. They put up a tunnel for the kids to go through and feel as if they have been teleported under water. 3.) Always a huge thanks to Signature Banquets for donating the banquet hall for the prom. Without them we wouldn't be able to hold the prom at such a nice place for the kids. 4.) Everyone looked great and had a blast, these are three friends sharing an awesome experience together. 5.) They wanted to make it special for the kids and use the money they, along with some great teachers, raised from penny wars to buy each attendee a prom picture. 6.) Smiling for the photo after winning prom king! The election wasn't based on popular votes, and you can vote as many times as possible. 7.) The dance was very fun for the peer mentors and the students. Taking pictures together was highlight for everyone;s night 8.) Students gathering together getting ready to dance. Everyone was happy to all be together for prom.

Under The Sea

By. Kayla Collard, Jessica Hunt & Angel Marsh

The student body and the peer mentors worked hard to raise money for the special needs prom. With the students help, they were able to raise a little over $4,000. This is their 5th special needs prom and the theme for this year is, 'Under the Sea.' The staff and students wanted to make it special for the kids, so they used the money that everyone raised from penny wars to buy each attendee a prom picture, and make the event outstanding for everyone to enjoy. All the students who attended the prom, all had a blast at the event.

Got Talent or Got Milk?

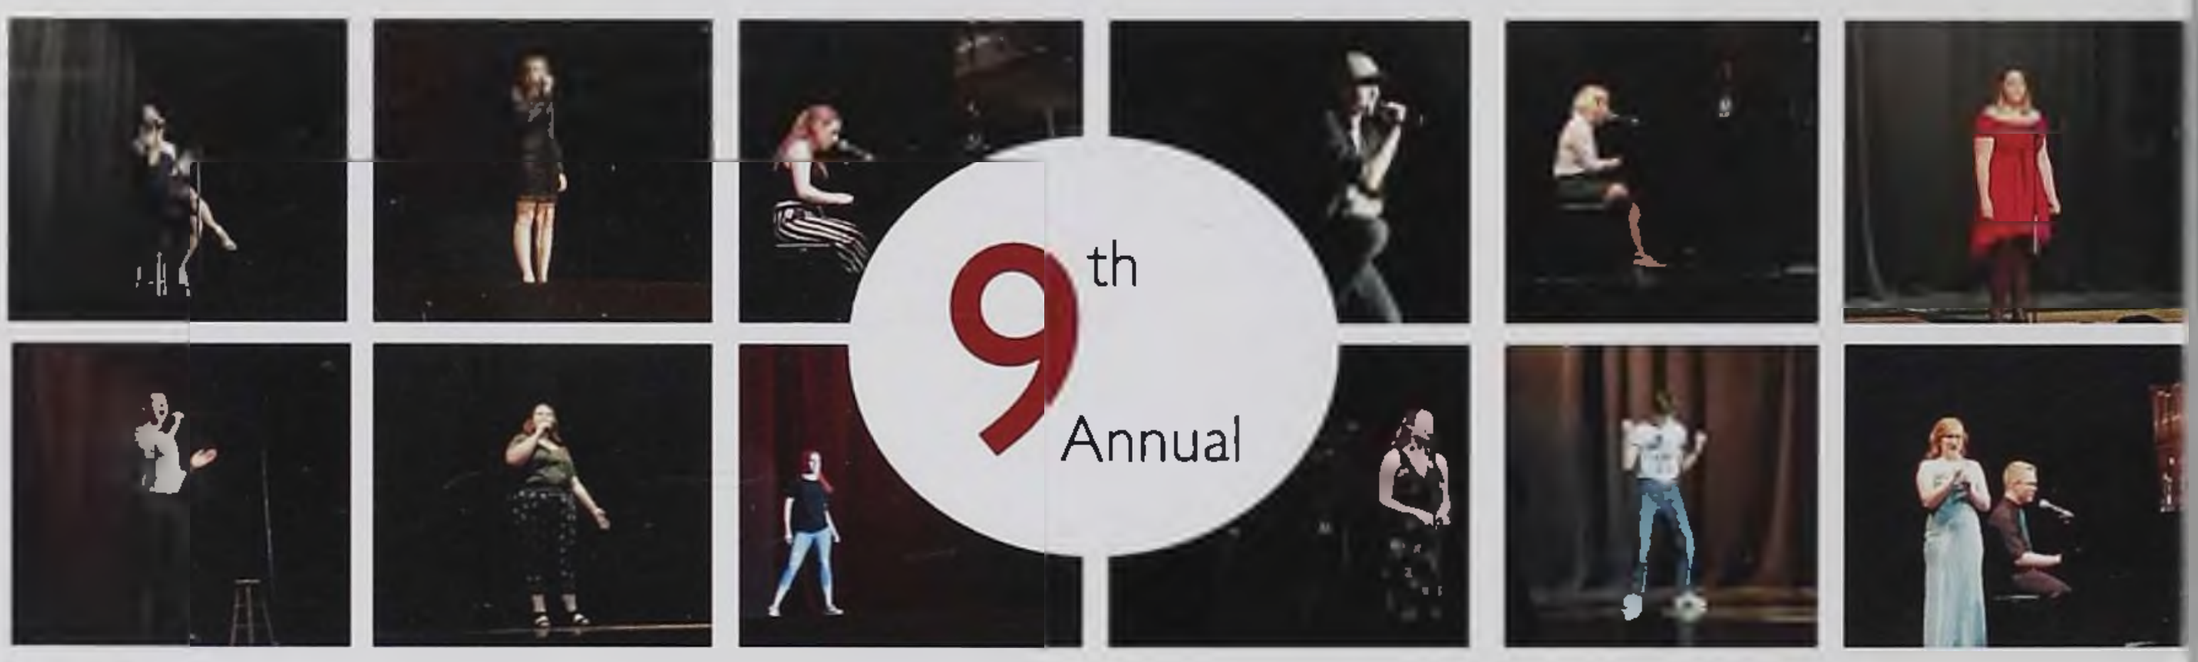
By: Angela Ogrodowski

Racing hearts, racking nerves, and sweating palms as contestants compete to show off their hidden talents for Lowell's Got Talent. Yearbook students and teacher Matt McLindon were the honorary judges. Only the best of the best made it in with their variety and array of talents. With it being the ninth annual talent show at Lowell High School, Lowell's Got Talent is better than ever with a red carpet themed show and a celebrity guest judge, Jenny Milkowski. Students waited patiently backstage before they show the audience their incredible talents.

1.) Payton Leoni (12), Emily Reider (11), Matthew Iwinski (11), Jenny Milkowski, Gunner Breitweiser (9), Jillian Richards (9), Hayley Durall all pose for a photo before the show starts. Everyone was excited to meet Jenny since she was a judge for the show.



By: Alexis Salazar, Marlena Dominguez, Angela Ogrodowski, & Emily Salomon

WINNERS

Elizabeth Atchley

With Elizabeth Atchley she won 1st place singing 'Say Something.' She was 1st for judges choice and audience choice. She won a total of $165.

Matthew Iwinski

Matt was the runner up winning 2nd place singing 'Never Enough' He was 2nd for judges choice and he won a total of $50

Contestants

With all the amazing talent we had, the audience and judges both had a tough time picking who was the best. Every contestant had an outstanding voice which made it hard to choose the winner.

2.) Our judges for the show were Mrs. Magley, Ms. Lesley, and Jenny Milkowski. They all had a great time watching the performances and enjoying everyone's talent. 3.) The performers pose for some preshow pics to break the tension and jitters of on-stage performing. 4.) The performers all share a laugh together. They all pose silly before taking the picture.

About Jenny Milkowski

Jenny Milkowski is a broadcast and digital media personality, host, reporter, and content creator. She has been a morning traffic anchor at WFLD-TV and also radio traffic reporter on several different Chicago news channels. Now, she hosts her own show called, 'Jenny Milk and Jay' which is the third largest radio market. Jenny also won an EMMY award for her writing work and was nominated two other times.

A Night of Enchantment

It is the night every high school student waits to experience. This magical night takes days, and hours of preparation. The night started at 6 o'clock and was spent in an enchanted forest with woodly creations decorating the hall. Many students danced the night away while enjoying the company of their peers. For many of the seniors this was one of the last memories they will have of high school. A night full of enchantment every student at LHS will remember for a lifetime.

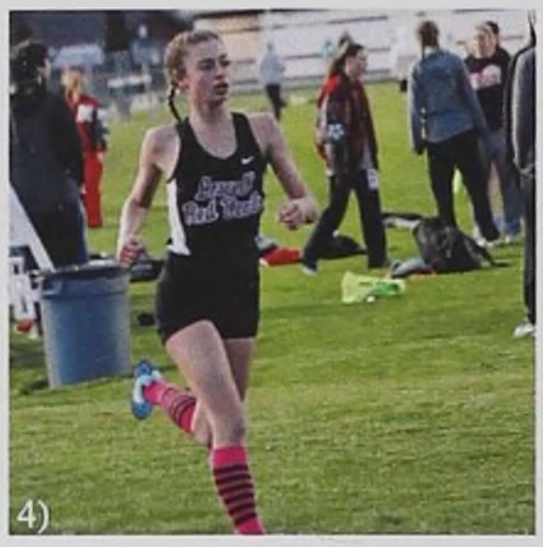
2018



Distance

Tony Gaskins once said "Consistency is the key! If you can't be consistent, then you can't be anything." This is completely true for our Lowell Distance Runners! Without consistency in pace, breathing, or speed, neither the boys or girls distance runners would be able to reach their race goal. Our distance teams run the farthest races and keep the longest breaths in order to steadily run and sprint at the end of their long runs.

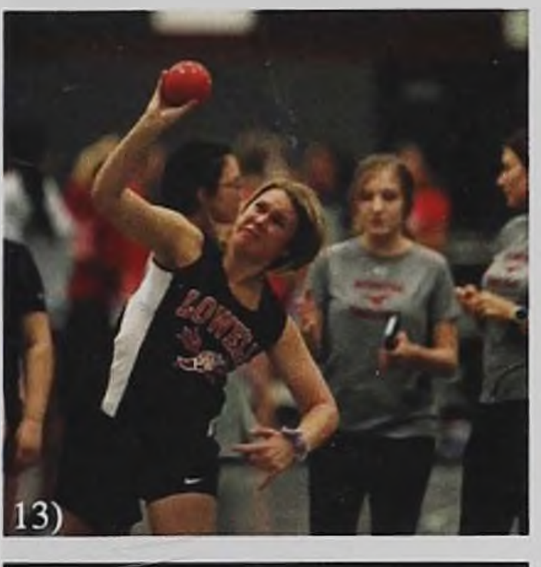
1) Alec Fleming and Gabriel Sanchez race toward the finish after a long tiring run!
2) Senior Jessica Mescal races around a curve on her last lap of the 3200.
3) Junior Jacob Bruinius and Freshman Marcus Gaertner are quick on their feet racing against Munster in a long distance race.
4) Sophomore Alexia Bibakis keeps her pace as she runs her second to last straight away before crossing the finish line.
5) Dustin Hudak (Junior) has a speedy start in the third lane as he begins running his last race of the night.
6) Distance relay runners Jordyn Boyer and Sarah Richardson begin to move into separate lanes preparing to pass off the baton.

7) Freshman Isabella Spagnola lines up to sprint down the track during the Lowell Track teams first home indoor meet of the season.
8) Junior Michael Mayer Sprints to his limits around the first curve on the track.
9) Multiple grade levels of Lowell Red Devil Boys Sprinters race down the last straight away preparing to cross the finish line!
10) Abby Lewandowski (Sophomore) sprints comering the first piece to the track!
11) Senior Jordan Jusevitch lines up and prepares for a speedy release onto the track.

Track

Sprinters

The sound of the gun fills the Lowell High School Sprinters ears as they push themselves to their limits racing forward at exhilarating speeds! Both boys and girls sprinters have strong willpower to vigorously shoot forward trying to pass or stay ahead of their opponents. During the season many strong wins have shaped out the team showing the true passion in the sport.



Throwers

On your mark, set, throw! This year, the Lowell boys and girls throwing teams had a great season. Gaining a new coach and many new members, the throwing team has adapted to the change and produced a great season! Many personal records were broken and many new mindsets were gained! Not only do the Lowell Throwers provide great power and spirit to the team, but they also have agility and strength to throw both shot put and discus! Their perseverance is key!

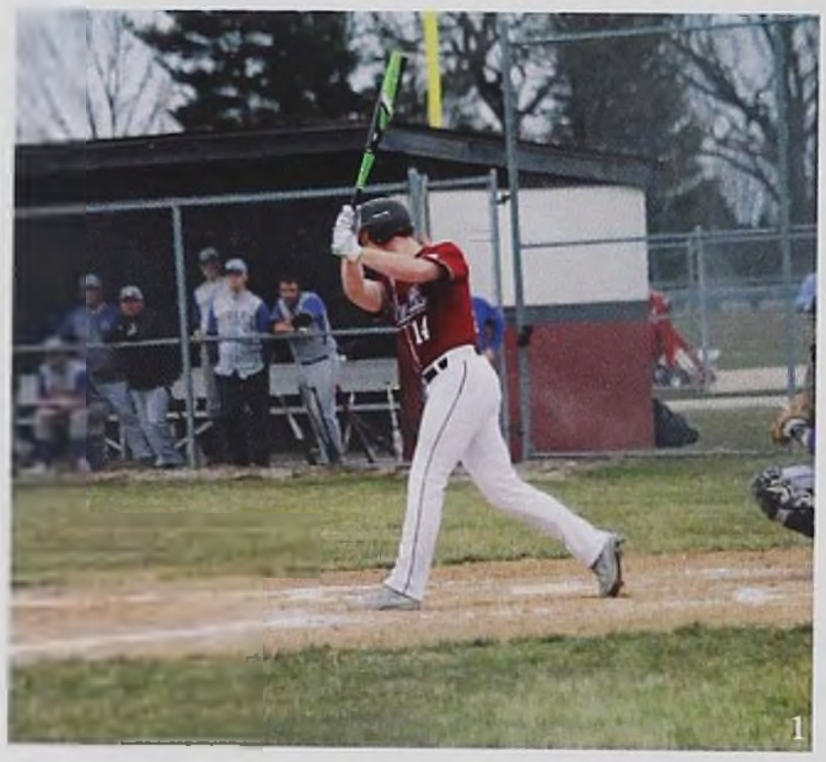
12) Senior Eddie Juszczak poses his arm for a pristine shot. (Picture of him holding a shot put)
13) With it being Junior Dakota Goetz first track season this year, she succeeded in throwing exceptionally keeping a large smile on her face the entire time.
14) The Boys and Girls throwing teams pose for a photo with their new coach following practice. (Tanner Greenholt wasn't present for the picture).
15) Junior Alex Juszczak is mid spin in the discus ring preparing for a tight release.
16) Junior Antigone Wilson finds great strength beginning her spin releasing only 1 foot away from her PR.
17) Sophomore Heather Karm leaps over her first hurdle preparing to land and execute a short but swift sprint to the next hurdle.

18) Sophomore Dominik Fosco keeps a consistent pace and he turns the last corner of the track readying his hand to pass off to his opponent towards the finish line.
19) Sophomore Emma Carillo (A Lowell High School High Jumper) is midway over the bar flinging her shoulders for a swift landing.
20) Senior Thomas Larken (one of the only guy pole vaulters is practicing before the expected school arrives to compete against us.
21) Senior Eddie Juszczak and Freshmans Jillian Richards, Erin Rose, and Laurin Marsh pose for a victory picture after the first meet of the season.
22) Senior Tucker Greenholt dives over the existing hurdle executing perfect form preparing to land and sprint to the finish line.

Field

Other

High Jump! Long Jump! Pole Vault! Relays! These events are what make up our field events! Field events are extremely important to heighten the Lowell Track teams score during meets. All events have boys and girls that compete and participate in order to make or break the final outcome. Without them track just wouldn't be the same.

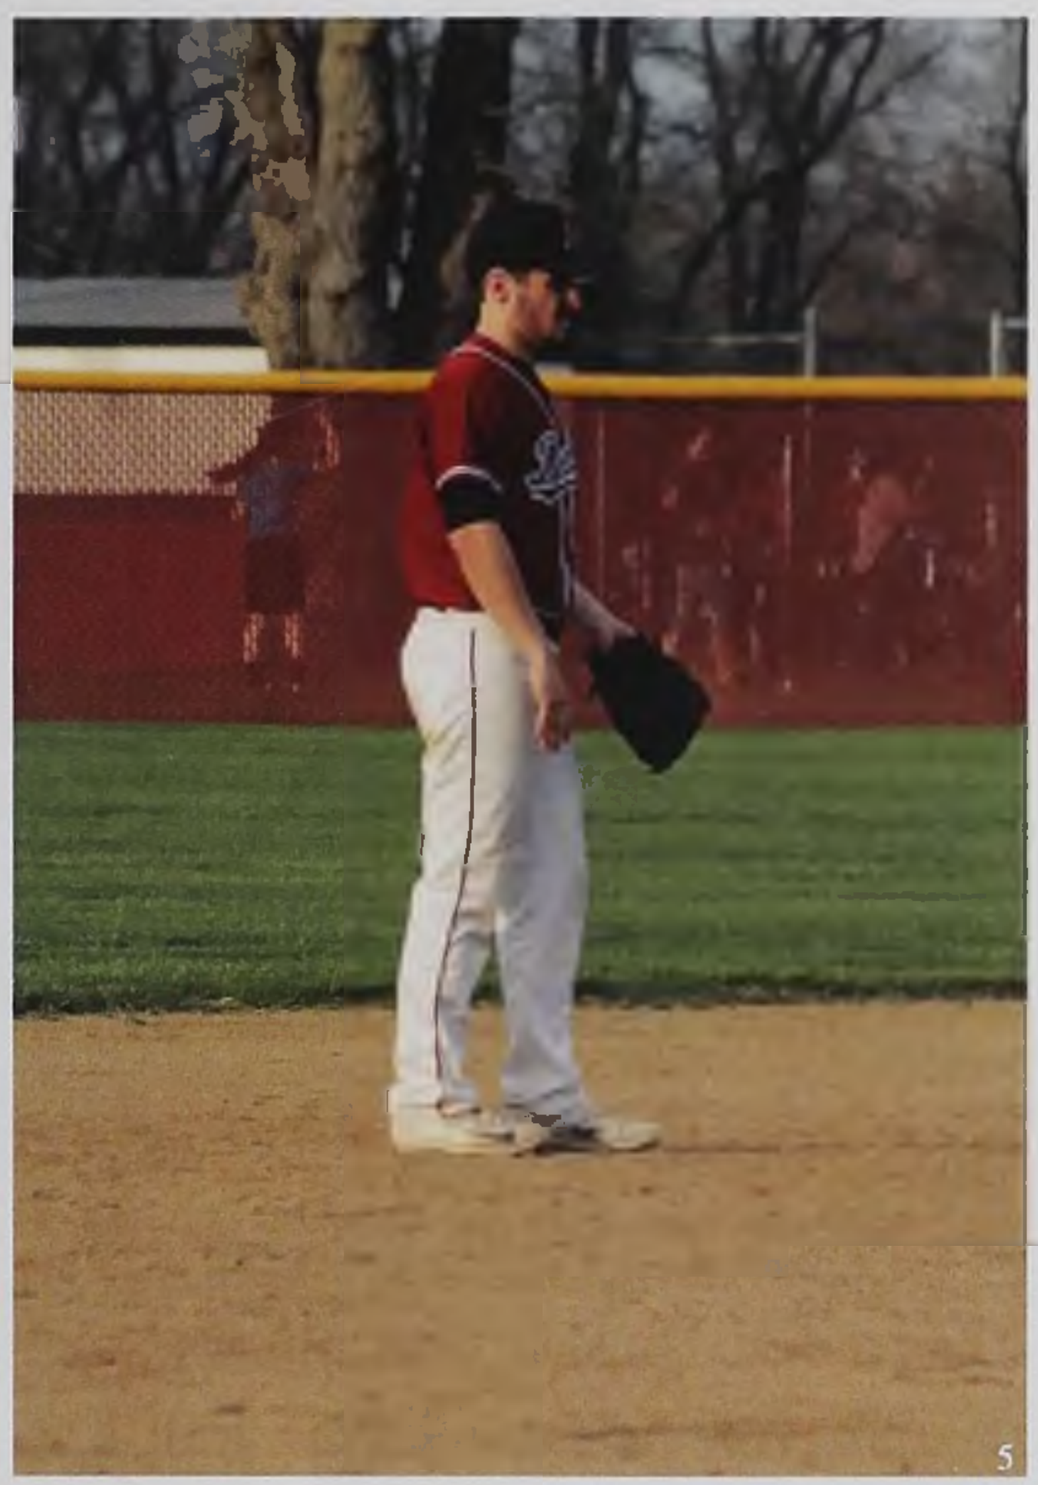


Field the Dreams

By: Emily Salomon

Baseball has been compared to many different things over the years, but roller coaster is not something any baseball player would want their season compared to. Sure, winning is always a goal, but this year's baseball team learned about several other goals before turning their attention back to flying the W flag. "The turning point of our season was when we went to the Wawasee tournament. The team was excited for Coach Bays who was stepping up and helping out with coaching duties for the double header games

Our first game went really well and everyone was so excited with the results, we ended up winning the whole tournament which helped us move forward in the season," Senior Mason Buche. The season started off with a 0-3 standing until the boys started to learn, and improve as a team. After devotion to strive to win, they hit a 500 winning percentage. At the end of the season, the Red Devil baseball team had 12-17 overall.



1.) Dylan Lax (12) makes contact with the ball. It was a hard battle against Hobart. 2.) Logan Missal (11) delivers a pitch to home plate. Logan always tries his best and pitches for more than half the game. 3.) Zach Cory (11) gets ready for the ball to cross the plate. Contact with the ball will help teammates make it to home. 4.) Jake Post (12) runs to 3rd base after a hit. He sprints as fast as he can to make it across the plate safely.

5.) Zach Thomas (12) plays as shortstop and is getting ready to catch any ball that comes to him. When he gets the play, he throws it to first base to get the batter out. 6.) Nick Bank (12) is ready for the ball to come over the plate for him to catch. Having communication with the pitcher is important to make sure he catches the ball. 7.) Matteo Cox (12) throws a pitch to home plate. He makes sure to throw his hardest so he can get strikes on the Hobart team.

1. One Step Ahead: Lily Biancardi (10) is playing at third base getting set for the ball that is about to get hit. She is prepared to get the out at first. 2. Live .Love. Pitch: Jillian Williams (11) has been pitching for 10 years. All the hard work and dedication pays off! 3. Head in the Game: Ryleigh Marsh (10) made varsity as a freshman and has enjoyed it ever since. She has made a great addition to the team! 4. Determination: Brianna Horsley (10) is a very determined outfielder. She works hard to get the ball into the infield in order to get the out. 5. Attitude is Everything: Lauren Williams (10) kept her head up through a difficult game against KV. She always keeps a huge smile on her face and tries her best to pitch the perfect strike! 6. Rise Up: Sophia Bikoff (9) is a one of many catchers for the Lowell JV Softball team. She always works hard to improve and drives for success!

7. Score More: When Hailey Boylan (12) steps up to the plate, she is ready to crush the ball! She is very team oriented she loves being with the girls and the relationship they all have with one another. 8. Get Loud! Alyssa Sharkey (12) is the third baseman for the Red Devils varsity softball team. She is a great addition to the team bringing lots of joy and passion to all! 9. Have Fun with It!: Sophomore Lauren Williams picks the team up by inspiring many of the girls. She shows a great example of a leader. 10. Staying Positive: During a tough game against Munster seniors Jayden Belcher, Hailey Boylan, and Haley Penman have fun while cheering their team on!

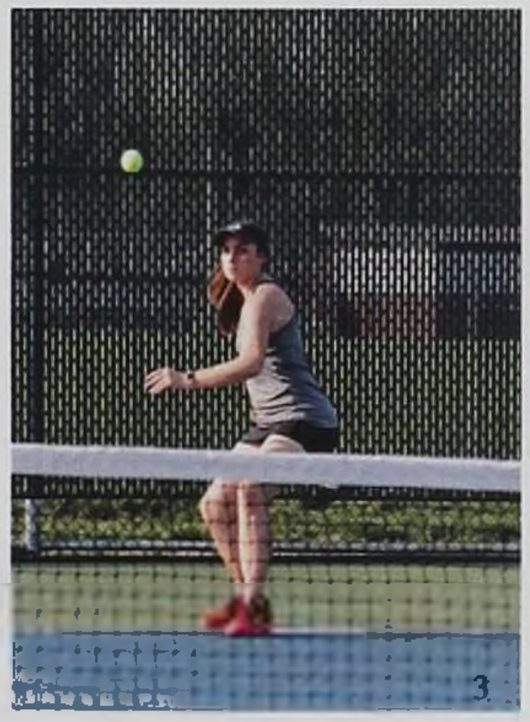
Swinging Into motion

Stepping foot onto the dusty, sun struck fields, numerous doors open for each and every player. Their face is full of determination and passion for the sport they love. To them softball isn't about winning, it's about the lessons gained on and off the field, that every girl takes away from it. After talking to senior Gabriela Malave, softball has taught her that "failing is okay, you eventually learn how to overcome all of the obstacles that come your way." Reflecting back, you learn multiple life lessons from softball that you don't understand until later in life including sportsmanship, bonding, responsibility, respect and so much more. Over the past few seasons, this team has concentrated on building up their program to make it the best it possibly can be. This takes a lot of commitment and hard work that these young ladies are willing to contribute. Head Coach Mike McLindon plans to keep this program evolving, teaching them not only to be good softball players but making them better people all around. These young ladies do not only represent the Lowell Softball team, they represent the town of Lowell. Representing Lowell is a huge responsibility, the attitude and character of each individual is very important. With many years to come, this program intends to expand and deliver various life lessons to every player.

In The Halls

Girls Tennis

The Lowell's Girl tennis team had a slow start with the girls trying to learn their own personal skills to start using. But, as the season progressed they all came together to start working hard and improving as a team and using their own personal skills. The girls worked very hard during the freezing practices and matches after school but still put their motivation into the work. After traveling around to different schools and once the season came to an end, the girls were satisfied and happy as a team with the way it ended.



1. Game Face: Kennedy Shultz (10) was excited to compete in a match, she'd been working hard for a really good time. All of this hard work ended up paying of in a win. 2. Trying your best: Kali Manolovich (10) seen darting to get to the ball to hopefully make it over the net, no matter win or lose she still played her hardest. 3. Eye on the ball: Emily Henke (12) focused as can be, Henke waits for the perfect time to hit the ball over the net to score a point. In tennis, timing is everything. 4. Serve it up: Tatiana Morales (12) was excited to of been serving. She had a good idea that she was going to take the win on this match. 5. Friends, not enemies: Becca Hirjak (9) wants only the best to be a great sport. She is showing this by shaking the opponents hand. 6. More than just a sport: Cassidy Seiter (10) and Morgan Zubric (10) were bonding before their match. Tennis wins and losses will come go, but these friendships will last forever.

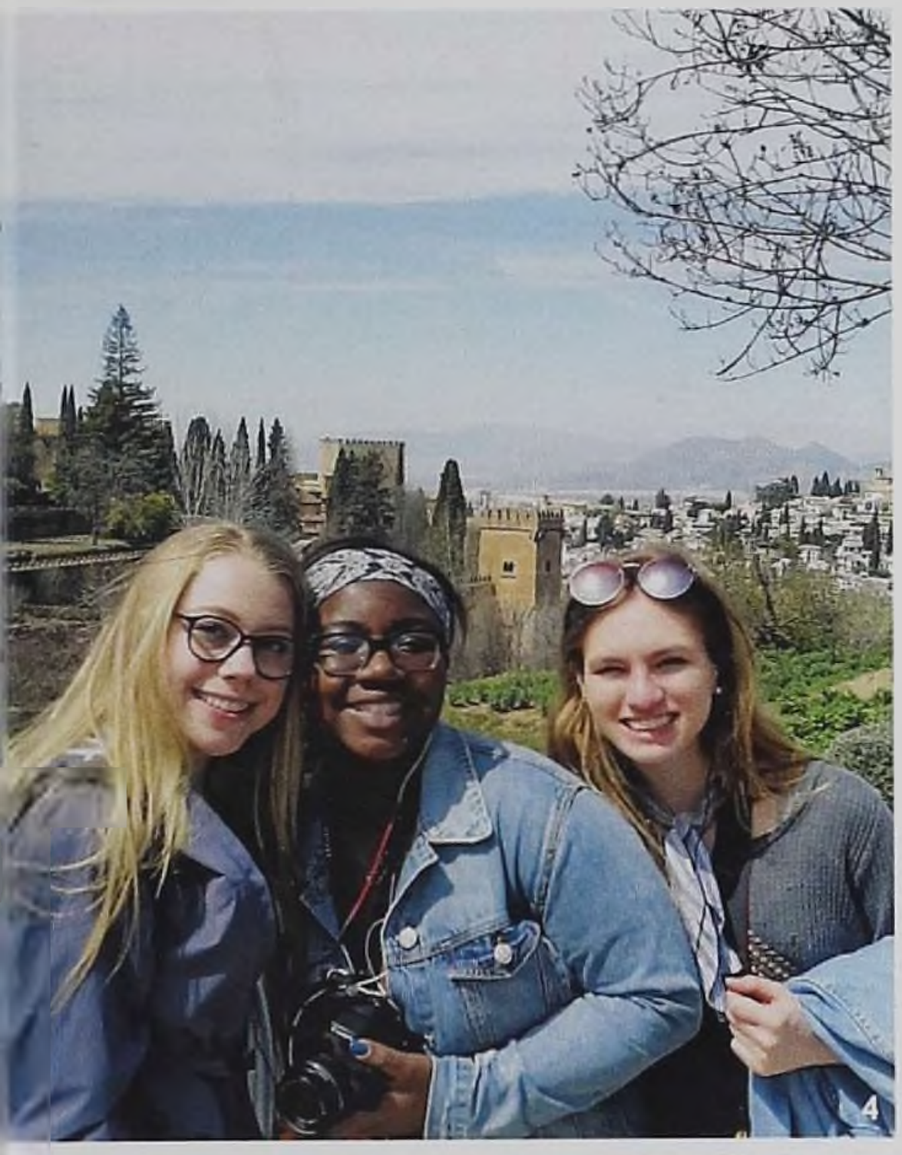
1.) After riding around and exploring Spain, the classmates decided to stop for a break. They came across to take pictures by the view of the water. 2.) Posing infront of the beautiful view that they stopped and explored for the day. A town in Spain from a different viewpoint. 3.) The view of the beach was a stop that everyone wanted to see. The beach had an outstanding view with the beautiful landscaping in the back.

Crossing Cultures

By: Emily Salomon

When the Spain trip was almost here, everyone who was attending packed their bags and had a plane trip for 8 hours. Once they arrived, everyone was very excited and amazed by the outstanding views that they were ready to explore. Lowell staff and students went to different locations and were able to experience the new culture.

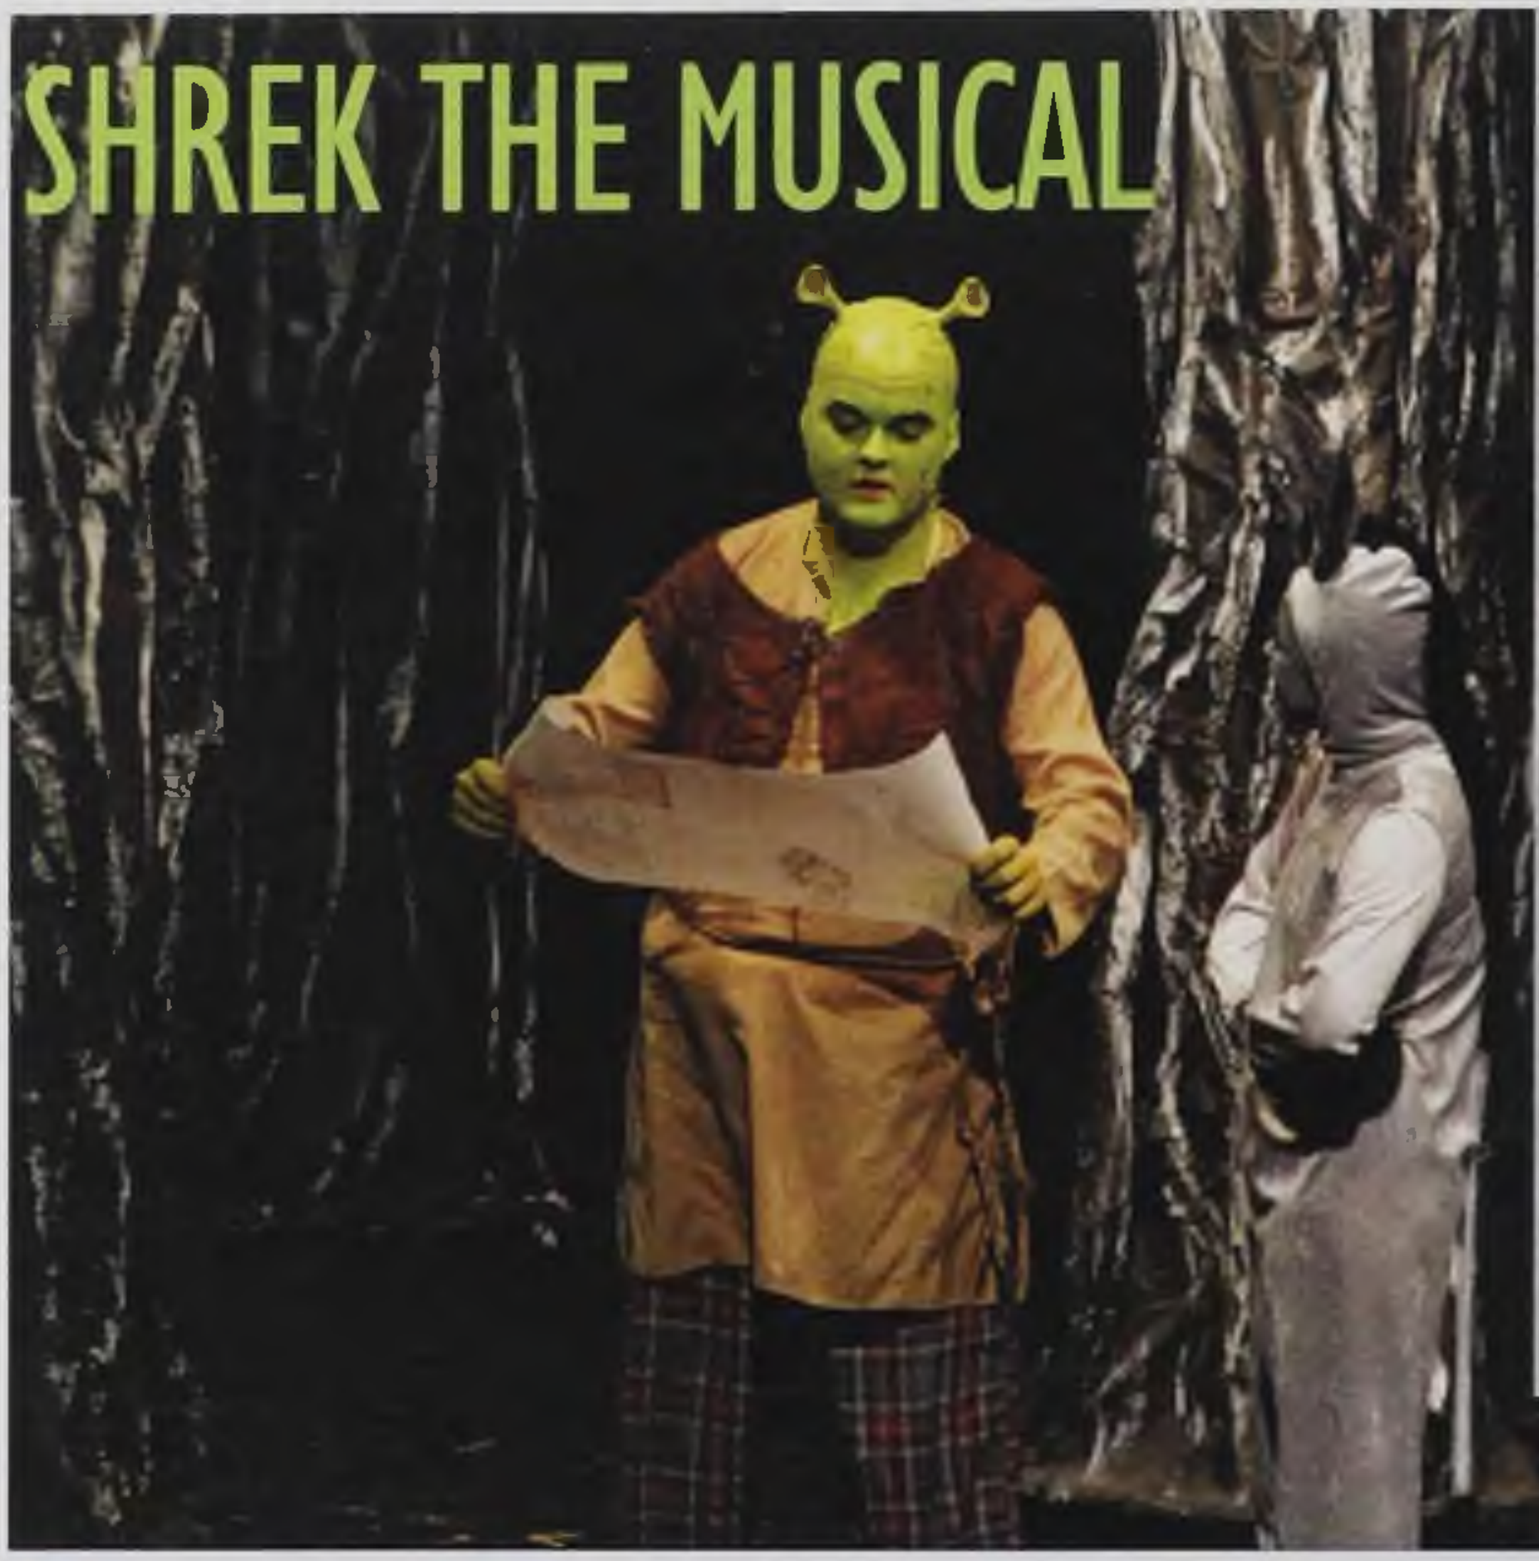
The people who attended the trip got to travel to new places, look at the views, eat new food, and also learn the history behind the locations. Everyone enjoyed the Spain trip and had a great spring break to always remember for a lifetime opportunity.



4.) The girls on the trip also stopped to take a picture with the background of Spain. They all loved the trip and the excitement it brought. 5.) The students and staff of the trip all gather in for a group photo. Cute smiles everyone!

6.) Gage Torres (11) poses infront of the monument in Spain. Mr. Werling takes a picture for memeories. 7.) Some of the students were admiring the view of the city. They were very impressed by learning the different things. 8.) All the students get together to pose for a picture. Everyone wanted a picture infront the view so they can always remember the moment.

SHREK THE MUSICAL



This year Shrek the Musical was a huge hit for the Theatre Department. The cast and crew put on a four day show with a bunch of amazing new elements. From nailing scenes to learning dance moves, the cast of Shrek worked hard 4-5 days a week leading up to the show. While the cast is working on their lines and committing to their parts, the crew is backstage making it all come to life. Mrs. Rickaby mentioned how she absolutely loves working with high schoolers, and how much of an accomplishment it is when everything goes right to pull the whole musical off. Congrats to everyone involved in making this years 2018 musical a huge hit!

1. Working Together: Donkey, Maiah Koslovsky (12) tries to help Shrek, Jordan Harris (11) out with directions, friends stick together. 2. Rock On!: Fiona and Shrek have a little fun singing and dancing, not a care in the world. Brooke Schrombeck (12) and Jordan Harris (11) practiced their amazing dance skills backstage to get ready for the spotlight. 3. Run for your lives!: Shrek and Donkey fight the terrifying dragon to save the beautiful princess from her castle. Maiah Koslovsky (12) gives it her all to pull off the scene with the terrifying dragon. 4. Banned Together: Pinocchio the puppet, Elizabeth Atchley (12) and one of Lord Farquaad's knights, Liam Collins (11) face off after the group of fairy tale characters gets dumped in Shrek's swamp.

5. Through Time: Fiona, the princess who has waited all her life to get saved, has grown up waiting for her knight in shining armor. Brooke Schrombeck (12) put an enormous amount of time into developing her character. 6. Lookin Good!: Our main cast had amazing facial and body expressions, and great accents. Brooke Schrombeck (12), Jordan Harris (11), and Maiah Koslovsky (12) had their game face on. 7. Bogathy's Great Creation!: This magnificent work of art took Madeline Bogathy (12) 16 hours to complete.. This dragon towers over the audience being 24 feet long and 9.5 feet tall and her head weighing about 25 pounds, which can move on a three plane axis with blinking eyes. Madeline was the head puppeteer, with Joshua Converse (11) and Destini Mink (11) operating the body and the fire that came out of her mouth.

8. Beware of Shrek!: Shrek shows Lord Farquaad's no good knights who's boss of the swamp. "Get out, this is my swamp!", said Jordan Harris (11). 9. The Muffin Man?: The poor gingerbread man Hailey Boylan (12) gets questioned by Lord Forquaad, Matthew Iwinski (11) in the dungeon of Duloc, he stands his ground for his friends and keeps where they are hiding a secret. 10. Getting Your Groove On: Lord Farquaad, Matthew Iwinski (11) takes center stage with his back up dancers in the town of Duloc. He captivates the audience with his colorful outfit and crazy personality. 11. Spotlight: From backstage to the spotlight, everyone involved worked very hard to make the musical the best it could be. With the seats filled, many got to enjoy this one of a kind musical.
